Chocolate

Tantalize your family and friends with easy-to-make chocolate delights

There's something about the taste of chocolate that sends our taste buds into a frenzy. It's rich, it's decadent, and oh so irresistible! We just can't wait for the next bite. True chocolate lovers know ... there is no such thing as too much when it comes to chocolate.

Topping off a meal with a luscious chocolate dessert is always a sure-fire way to impress even the most finicky eaters. To test this theory, try any of these sinfully delicious, easy-to-make recipes. The common denominator in all is versatile Cool Whip® Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, which provides a smooth and creamy, real chocolate taste whether being used as an ingredient or topping.

Chocolate Tornadoes are simple-to-prepare treats that will enchant children and please "big kids" too. The light and fluffy chocolate whipped topping is swirled around a pool of deep, rich chocolate pudding resulting in a dessert so yummy your children will want seconds.

Chocolate Striped Delight, will dress up any meal with layer after layer of tantalizing chocolate flavor. Garnish with a few curls of chocolate, set the cut squares on a glass pedestal and watch them disappear!

Here are a few more fun and easy ideas to try. Put a chocolate twist on classic banana cream pie by spreading creamy Cool Whip Chocolate over the vanilla pudding and sliced banana pie filling. Or, lend some chocolate excitement to an ordinary cheesecake by blending Cool Whip Chocolate into the mixture. You can even make a simple chocolate layer cake something special by frosting it with easy-spreading Cool Whip Chocolate and decorating it with starlight mints. In an instant, you have a Peppermint Fudge Cake that appeals to the kid in all of us.

Finally, if you want something more decadent, try Candy Bar Pie, an irresistible chocolate crusted treat of ice cream, Cool Whip Chocolate and peanuts drizzled with a creamy, rich caramel sauce. It's simple and it's chocolate—what could be better!

Top It Off With More Chocolate

Enough chocolate is never enough! Here are more great ideas for using Cool Whip Chocolate to lend a delectable chocolate taste.

- Use it as a topping for chewy, fudge brownies.
- Put a heaping dollop on a bowl of chocolate ice cream or a banana split.
- Use it as a frosting for cupcakes and pies. Its creamy smoothness makes spreading a breeze.
- Make a chocolate-chocolate chip sandwich cookie by spreading it between two chocolate chip cookies.
- Layer it in a parfait glass between crushed chocolate sandwich cookies to make a quick chocolate delight.
- Pipe it on cakes and pies to make beautiful chocolate decorations and borders.
- Combine it with chocolate pudding for a fluffy, super chocolatey mousse.

Chocolate Tornado

- 2 cups Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed
- 2 cups cold milk
- 1 package (4-serving size) Jell-O chocolate flavor instant pudding and pie filling

Spoon whipped topping evenly into 6 dessert dishes. Using back of spoon, spread whipped topping into the bottom and up sides of each dish. Pour milk into medium bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat with wire whisk 1 to 2 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes or until thickened. Spoon pudding into dishes. Refrigerate until ready to serve.

Makes 6 servings

Note: Dessert is best made and served the same day.

Candy Bar Pie

- 1 pint vanilla ice cream (2 cups), softened
- 1 prepared chocolate flavor crumb crust (6 ounces)
- 1/2 cup caramel sauce or dessert topping
- 1/2 cup chopped peanuts
- 1 tub (8 ounces) Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed

Spread ice cream evenly in bottom of crust. Freeze until ice cream is firm.

Spread caramel sauce over ice cream; sprinkle with peanuts.

Cover with whipped topping.

Freeze 4 hours or until firm. Let stand at room temperature 20 minutes or until pie can be easily cut. Garnish with additional caramel sauce and peanuts, if desired.

Makes 8 servings

Chocolate Cheesecake Pie

- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1/3 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 tub (8 ounces) Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed
- 1 prepared chocolate cookie crumb crust (6 ounces)

Beat cream cheese, sugar and vanilla with wire whisk until smooth. Gently stir in whipped topping. Spoon into crust.

Refrigerate at least 4 hours or until set. Store leftover pie in refrigerator.

Makes 8 servings

Chocolate Banana Cream Pie

- 1-1/2 bananas, sliced
- 1 prepared chocolate flavor crumb crust (6 ounces)
- 1-3/4 cups cold milk
- 1 package (4-serving size) Jell-O vanilla flavor instant pudding and pie filling
- 1 tub (8 ounces) Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed

Arrange banana slices in bottom of crust.

Pour milk into medium bowl. Add pudding mix. Beat with wire whisk 1 to 2 minutes.

Immediately pour into crust. Let stand 5 minutes. Spread whipped topping over pudding.

Refrigerate 3 hours or until set. Garnish with additional banana slices and fudge sauce or dessert topping, if desired. Store leftover pie in refrigerator.

Makes 8 servings

Peppermint Fudge Cake

- 1 package (2-layer size) chocolate cake mix
- 20 starlight mints
- 1 tub (8 ounces) Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed

Prepare and bake cake mix as directed on package for 2 (9-inch) round cake layers. Cool 10 minutes; remove from pans. Cool completely on wire racks.

Crush 8 mints; set aside remaining for garnish.

Spread 1 cup of the whipped topping on 1 cake layer; sprinkle with crushed mints.

Top with second cake layer. Frost entire cake with remaining whipped topping. Store cake in refrigerator.

Garnish with remaining mints just before serving.

Makes 12 servings

Chocolate Striped Delight

- 35 chocolate sandwich cookies, finely crushed (3 cups)
- 6 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
- 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 1 tub (8 ounces) Cool Whip Chocolate Non-Dairy Whipped Topping, thawed
- 3-1/4 cups cold milk
- 2 packages (4-serving size) Jell-O chocolate flavor instant pudding and pie filling

Mix crushed cookies and margarine in medium bowl.

Press firmly into bottom of 13x9 inch pan. Refrigerate 15 minutes.

Beat cream cheese, sugar and 2 tablespoons milk in medium bowl until smooth. Gently stir in 1-1/4 cups of the whipped topping. Spread over crust.

Pour 3-1/4 cups milk into large bowl. Add pudding mixes. Beat with wire whisk 1 to 2 minutes. Pour over cream cheese layer. Let stand 5 minutes or until thickened. Drop remaining whipped topping by spoonfuls over pudding. Spread to cover pudding.

Refrigerate 4 hours or overnight. Cut into squares.

Makes 16 to 18 servings

Helpful Hint: For easier cutting, place dessert in freezer 1 hour before serving.

GCMH Observes National Radiologic Technology Week, November 8-14

Radiologic technologists at Garrett County Memorial Hospital will be honored by their medical colleagues both locally and across the nation November 8-14 as part of the national observance known as "National Radiologic Technology Week."

Medical imaging, like so many other modern technologies, has dramatically advanced and expanded in just the last few years. Now, besides using basic x-ray films, physicians can look inside the body via magnetic resonance imaging, computed tomography, sonography, nuclear medicine, and a host of other imaging technologies that rival the science coming out of today's space programs.

Today's physicians also have the option of treating various cancers with radiation therapy instead of just surgery or chemotherapy drugs.

Through the continuing efforts of the hospital foundation and the generous support of the community, Garrett Memorial's radiology department is able to provide a full range of the most current radiology services available.

The department's state of the art CT (computed tomography) scanner, purchased by the hospital foundation, allows Garrett Memorial's technologists to more accurately and efficiently diagnose disease and eliminate the need for some surgeries. The scanner greatly decreases the amount of time required to complete a scan, allowing for quicker results.

Ultrasound is helpful to the physicians of patients experiencing circulatory and heart problems. Garrett Memorial's top of the line ultrasound unit, which was purchased earlier this year, contains color flow, a feature which allows changes in blood flow to be shown in color. The early detection of prostate cancer is possible using the ultrasound prostate cancer probe which allows a biopsy to be performed at the time the study is being conducted.

The hospital's mammography unit is fully accredited by the American College of Radiology (ACR). "Receiving accreditation by the ACR is confirmation of the quality mammography services that have always been provided by our facility," said Michael Reed, director of radiology at Garrett Memorial.

"Accreditation assures the community that the best possible breast care is available at Garrett Memorial," stated Dr. Charles Magal, chief of radiology. "This certification, in conjunction with the teamwork of referring physicians, breast surgeons, radiologists, and mammogram technologists, provides the basis of this service."

Garrett Memorial's radiology staff includes: Laura Simmons, RT; Dawn Young, RT; Cliff Dull, RT; and Joe Dever, LRT; all from general radiology; Bill DeWitt, RT; and Sue Skewer, RT; both from ultrasound; Mary Norwisch, RT; and Rosalee Finch-Sines, LRT; mammography, John Carlisle, RT; Mark Phillips, RT; Bill DeWitt, RT; and Al D'Arpe, RT; computed tomography; Gordon Stalnaker, LRT; and John Carlisle, RT; nuclear medicine. Mary Dawson, Vera Sines, and Cindy Friend provide support services for the department. Other radiologists on staff include: Dr. Emmett Cox, Dr. Keith Pumroy, Dr. Robert Miller, and Dr. G. Michael Dwyer.

"National Radiologic Technology Week is a special time that is set aside to recognize the highly trained and skilled professionals in the field of radiologic technology," said Reed. "The patients at Garrett County Memorial Hospital can feel very comfortable that when they utilize the services of the radiology department, they are being x-rayed with state of the art equipment that is operated by trained, skilled, and licensed technologists. It is because of the hard work and dedication of our technologists that this week is set aside in their honor."

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners signed a proclamation this week declaring the observance of National Radiologic Technology Week. The commissioners urged all citizens to be aware of the contributions made by the members of this profession for health care services.

Garrett County Vacation Guide Being Compiled

Information and materials for the 1994-95 Garrett County-Deep Creek Lake Vacation Guide are now being compiled. This guide is the only comprehensive publication for Deep Creek Lake and Garrett County and offers complete listings of accommodations, restaurants, historic sites, attractions, and events. Because of an ever-increasing number of requests for information annually, a minimum of 125,000 copies of the new guide will be printed.

The guide will again be in the 8 1/2"x11" full-color format, with an anticipated 112 pages. Advertising in the guide is open to any Garrett County business which supports and/or promotes tourism and recreation in the county. Businesses interested in advertising in the new guide may contact the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council, Courthouse, 200 South Third Street, Oakland, MD 21550; telephone (301) 334-1948, no later than Wed., Dec. 8.

Wellness Notes Great American Smoke-Out Day

Wellness Together of Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Garrett County Health Department will celebrate the efforts of smokers to "quit the habit" during the American Cancer Society's Great American Smoke Out on Thursday, Nov. 18.

"Since quitting the smoking habit often takes several attempts before a person is successful, we support smokers in using this day as a first attempt toward making a full commitment to achieving non-smoking status," said Debora Nichols, Wellness Together coordinator.

The American Cancer Society has recommended some basic strategies for persons wishing to stop smoking:

"Stay positive. When you wake up, promise yourself that you won't smoke a cigarette that day.

"Picture success. Plan ahead and think of how you'll deal with stressful situations without lighting up.

"Take a breather. Relaxation exercises help relieve urges to smoke. Remember, urges to smoke are temporary."

Wellness Together will offer the "Smoke Stoppers Staying Stopped" program beginning January 10, 1994, to assist in the smoking cessation process. According to Nichols, the program is designed to give smokers the 'tools' to help them stop smoking. The program focuses on stress and weight management since these two issues are often barriers to quitting and staying stopped.

For more information about Wellness Together's "Smoke Stoppers Staying Stopped" program, persons may call 334-2155, ext. 443 or 408.

Jazz Musician To Appear At FSU

Singer, guitarist, and songwriter Martin Sexton will be performing at Cafe Frostburg Saturday, Nov. 20, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Lane Center's Greenhouse. The event is free and open to the public.

"Sexton's powerful vocals, dazzling interpretations and well crafted original material of jazz, blues, and soul have won him praise from coast to coast and left his audiences spellbound," stated an FSU spokesman.

The Boston Globe calls him "the most exciting and promising of Boston's young songwriters."

His performances at a number of colleges have earned him recognition in the College Music Journal.

Sexton is currently playing in New York and Boston, his home base, along with other northeastern cities.

Dedictory Organ Recital Scheduled At St. John's

Dr. Roy E. Knight will perform a dedicatory recital in St. John's Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod in the Cove, Accident on Sunday, Nov. 21, at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Knight will present the recital on the 932 digital pipeless organ recently purchased by St. John's congregation. The public is cordially invited to attend the recital and to partake of the refreshments that will be served following the concert.

The organist's dedication to music flourished at West Virginia University where he earned his undergraduate and graduate degrees in organ literature as well as a doctorate of musical art. He is currently serving as organist and choir director at Wesley United Methodist Church, Morgantown, W.Va. Dr. Knight stated that he is excited about this recital, and considers it a privilege to present a recital on a new digital non-wind pipe organ.

Digital, pipeless organs are a new development in organ building. These organs produce authentic organ sound without the pipes. In the digital sampling process, a sound from any source is recorded and stored in a numeric form on a central processing unit. Digital technology allows engineers to take a "sampling" of these pipes to create a clone of the instrument. These different sounds can then be played back using the keys on the organ as the controller.

Technical engineers, guided by musical artists and musical historians, have recorded samples of sounds from pipe organs throughout the world. The very best of the past is now available today, through the science and the art of the digital organ, Knight said.

Service Award Presented To Oakland Elks

The local committee of the Allegany-Garrett Governor's Committee On The Employment of People With Disabilities has selected the Oakland Elks as the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award for outstanding efforts in serving people with disabilities.

The Oakland Elks employs people with disabilities, a spokesperson said, and also hosted a dinner, picnic, and a dance for them this year.

This is the second year the Oakland Elks has won this award.

Farm Bureau Asks Congress To Respect Property Rights

Farmers, ranchers, other landowners and entrepreneurs are confused and disturbed over the multi-fronted attack on property rights, the president of the nation's largest farm organization told a House subcommittee.

"Property rights are a cornerstone for the historic success of American agriculture," explained American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner. "The federal government is vigilant in its defense of other civil rights and liberties. Why shouldn't the right to own and use property enjoy the same status? The Fifth Amendment says it should."

Testifying in support of H.R. 561, the Private Property Rights Protection Act of 1993, Kleckner said, "The right to own and use property is guaranteed by the Constitution, as important as the right to worship, to free speech, to vote."

"Yet, overzealous regulators interpret laws to suit their personal philosophies or to justify their existence. These unnecessary regulations are expensive, time-consuming and causing good people to have some bad problems."

Kleckner said federal agencies should have to consider the impact of government regulations on reducing the use of private property. He said the goal of the bill is to minimize unintended takings and the resultant costs to the government to compensate landowners when such a taking occurs.

"Under the proposed law, regulators will have to stop and think about the implications of their regulations," Kleckner said. "Farm Bureau believes this bill is a necessary first step to protect by legislation our fundamental property rights."

He said it is unfortunate that the public debate on private property rights often seeks to pit landowner against the environment. "This is not an 'either/or' situation. Environmental quality is clearly an economic good with associated economic costs," Kleckner said.

"Real, tangible, long-lasting environmental progress can only be made through use of the powerful incentives of private ownership and market rewards. We know that a market system based on the right to own and use private property is the most efficient in using resources to achieve the maximum amount of benefit at the lowest cost," Kleckner said.

This year, more than 30 states have considered legislation to protect private property rights.

AFBF Prepares To Celebrate Its 75th Anniversary

With reflections on its past and a glimpse to its future, the American Farm Bureau Federation will celebrate its 75th anniversary during the 1994 AFBF Annual Meeting, Jan. 9-13, in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

From the single horse-drawn plow to farming with the aid of computers, satellites and 200-horsepower tractors, the past 75 years have brought many changes to agriculture and Farm Bureau. AFBF has played an integral role in the development of agriculture policy throughout those years.

An estimated 7,000 Farm Bureau leaders, representing the 50 states and Puerto Rico, are expected to be on hand to celebrate the organization's diamond anniversary.

"This will be a unique and unforgettable annual meeting," said Dean Kleckner, AFBF president. "Farm Bureau members will come from far and wide to help us celebrate our diamond anniversary and participate in special conferences, discussions and entertaining events."

Conferences dedicated to AFBF national policy

formation will take place on Jan. 10 from 1:30-3 p.m. and 3:30-5 p.m.

Topics for the 12 special conferences include environmental and regulatory issues such as the Clean Water Act, wetlands and the Endangered Species Act, the future of farm programs, federal budget and tax policies, private property rights, food safety and science, health care policy, and livestock, dairy and grain commodity workshops.

On hand to address the general sessions and speak to the membership will be a nationally syndicated columnist and a renowned agricultural futurist. Informative and inspirational speakers are a tradition at AFBF annual meetings.

Paul Craig Roberts, a syndicated columnist for Scripps Howard News Service and a columnist for Business Week, will speak at the Jan. 10 morning session, following Kleckner's annual address to the membership.

Roberts has written several books and academic articles. He serves on the board of directors of several investment firms, investor advisory services and economic and political think-tanks.

Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy will address the meeting's general session Tuesday morning, Jan. 11, 1994. Since taking office, Espy has been at the forefront of many issues including farm disaster relief, meat inspection and restructuring USDA.

Dr. Lowell Catlett, an agricultural futurist, also will speak at the general session on Jan. 11. Catlett is a professor in the agricultural economics and business department at New Mexico State University. He teaches and researches the areas of ag marketing policy, futures markets, management and futuristic issues.

Farm Bureau delegates will debate and adopt the organization's policies on Jan. 12-13. The policies will direct the organization's annual work program.

"Farm Bureau is a grass roots organization," Kleckner said. "Our members determine our policies and dictate the path our organization takes."

In addition to setting the organization's policy, a number of awards will be presented during the meeting to outstanding and county Farm Bureaus and Farm Bureau members from across the country. The awards include AFBF's outstanding young farmer and distinguished service awards.

The entertainment slated for Tuesday evening, Jan. 11, will be provided by "Liberty," a company of singers, dancers, actors and musicians. The action-packed concert is billed as a "world-class celebration of freedom."

Rain Slows Soybean Harvest

Through the week ending November 7, Maryland farmers harvested 49 percent of the soybean acreage. This was behind last year's progress of 52 percent harvested and behind the normal five year average of 59 percent harvested at this time of year.

Topsoil moisture rating was 68 percent adequate and 32 percent surplus. Subsoil moisture was 27 percent short, 68 percent adequate, and five percent surplus. Conditions allowed an average of 2.9 days suitable for fieldwork during the week, according to the Maryland Agricultural Statistics Service.

Average statewide soybean condition was rated poor to fair. Statewide, hay supplies were short to adequate. Pasture feed averaged in excellent condition. Sorghum was in fair condition.

Maryland's progress for the week ending November 7 was as follows, listing the item, this year's percentage, last year's percentage and a percentage for the 5-year average.

Wheat seeded, 80, 66, 78; rye seeded, 87, 72, 83; corn grain harvested, 88, 70, 84; soybeans harvested, 49, 52, 59; sorghum harvested, 40, 55, N/A; alfalfa hay, fifth cutting, 56, 54, 54; other hay, fourth cutting, 83, 79, 64; apples picked, 96, 93, 98. N/A: Not available.

WEATHER

Maryland weather for the week ending November 5 had below normal temperatures and above normal precipitation. Temperatures averaged 48.4 degrees, 3.2 degrees below the normal of 49.6 degrees for the October 30 to November 5 period. Minimum temperatures ranged from 15 degrees at Oakland to 34 at several stations, but generally around 30 degrees. Maximum temperature was 69 degrees at Hancock but generally in the mid 80's. Precipitation averaged 1.10 inch, 0.35 inch above the normal of 0.75. Precipitation ranged from 0.35 inch at Westminster to 2.28 inch at Oakland. Regional averages were: western, 1.53; north central, 0.87; southern Maryland west of the Bay, 0.99; and the Eastern Shore, 1.20.

Atherosclerosis and Estrogen Replacement

Most studies show that women who obtain estrogen after menopause or hysterectomy have less coronary heart disease than women who do not receive estrogen. Researchers writing in Obstetrics and Gynecology seem to know why. Blood platelets that clump together (aggregate) are involved in atherosclerosis development (hardening of the arteries). Women experienced a marked decrease in platelet clumping after only three months of estrogen use.

Deworming Time

Now is the time to deworm all young beef cattle, whether raised or purchased. If you deworm now and keep the cattle on dry lot, they probably will not need another worming; however, if they are out on pasture, they may need another deworming in January. There are several good deworming products on the market, including Ivermectin, Synanthic, Valbazin and a double dose of Safeguard.

Market Losses Without Pesticides?

The American Farm Bureau Research Foundation funded a study on the "economic impacts of reduced pesticide use on fruits and vegetables." The report was released on September 14 and contained some startling projections.

If pesticides were completely eliminated from farming commercially, marketable yields of fruits and vegetables would decrease, on an average, by 70 percent, while per unit costs of production and per acre costs would greatly increase. If pesticide use was cut in half, the average yield would be reduced by 37 percent.

The principal trade-offs included in the report: higher supermarket prices; poor product appearance, quality and perishability; a reduction in the U.S.'s ability to compete in the international fruit and vegetable market; short supply of labor needed to do the "drudgery" affiliated with no pesticide use, land requirements would jump by 40 to 50 percent, and greater management skills and time would be required.

A Final Reminder

If you need to obtain your private pesticide applicator's license, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will be giving the examination on November 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Garrett County Extension Office. This is the last chance for this year.

House Okays Survey Bill, Includes Property Rights Provision

An amendment requiring surveyors conducting a planned national biological inventory to obtain landowner permission to enter private property was included in legislation authorizing the survey. The bill passed the House last week, 255-165.

American Farm Bureau Federation President Dean Kleckner called the amendment "a victory for private property rights." It was adopted earlier last month when the House began consideration of the bill (H.R. 1845) to authorize the National Biological Survey.

The Farm Bureau-backed amendment, sponsored by Reps. Charles Taylor (R-N.C.), Gary Condit (D-Calif.) and Richard Pombo (R-Calif.), passed 309-115. In addition to requiring surveyors to first obtain written consent to enter private property, the provision also requires that all data collected be available to landowners at no cost.

Although the amendment was welcome, Kleckner said the survey still raises concerns on the part of farmers over the potential decline in the protection of private property rights.

The legislation would empower the government to conduct its first nationwide hunt for endangered species with federal inspectors determining exactly where specific species of plants and animals can be found.

Supporters say the survey would help the government avoid hostile battles such as the one in the Northwest where logging has been curtailed to protect the habitat of the endangered northern spotted owl.

The House eliminated an earlier adopted provision authorizing the secretary of interior to accept services of volunteers from the private sector to assist in the collection of data of non-federal lands.

In addition, Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt said in a recent speech there is no way the government can compensate owners for land affected by wildlife protection activities.

Babbitt said the Endangered Species Act, regarded by many landowners as one of the nation's most intrusive laws, is a workable legislation that has been poorly implemented.

The House made some concessions to those concerned with private property rights protection, but some aspects of the bill still raise concerns.

House members attempted to add an amendment to grant compensation to landowners whose property value is reduced by more than 50 percent as a result of the survey. It failed by a rule that the amendment was not germane to the subject.

The House bill authorizes $170.3 million to conduct the survey in 1994 and "such funds as are necessary" in 1995.

Other provisions adopted:

- Require notification to state and county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Soil Conservation Service committees before conducting survey activities on private lands.

- Provide that private landowners cannot be held liable for injury or other damage that may be incurred by personnel while conducting the survey.

- Limit the agency's authorization to two years.

The measure now moves to the Senate where it will be taken up by the Environment and Public Works Committee. Farm Bureau will work with Senate leaders to construct a bill that will protect landowners' rights.

Fresh Local Turkeys Available

Great for large family and office gatherings, Maryland's fresh turkey and turkey products selection are plentiful this year, according to Maryland Secretary of Agriculture Robert L. Walker.

"When planning your Thanksgiving celebration, consider purchasing a Maryland fresh turkey," Walker said.

Maryland area turkey growers report a 45 percent increase in their supply of turkeys this season so there will be plenty of birds from which to choose.

Freshly dressed turkeys are available from the following local producer: James Giotfely, Bittering Rock Lodge, Accident, phone, 245-4345.

Maryland Milk Production Down

Maryland Dairy operators produced 110 million pounds of milk during September 1993, a decline of three percent from the same month a year earlier.

The number of milk cows decreased to 98,000 head from the 100,000 head a year earlier. The yield per cow increased slightly and averaged 1,145 pounds per cow during September 1993 compared with 1,130 pounds in September 1992.

Farmers fed an average of 14.3 pounds of grains and concentrates to each cow on October 1, 1993, down one pound from the year earlier ration. On October 1, 1992, the value of this feed was $8.55 per 100 pounds; in 1993 the value was $9.00.

FIRST-PLACE TRACTOR PULLER - Michael Strawser, son of Allan and Annette Strawser, Aurora, W.Va. competed in the annual tractor pull on October 16, sponsored by The Rust and Dust Club of Winston-Salem, N.C., and took first place in the 9,000 pound class. He competed in the full pull with a 730 John Deere Diesel, owned by Arliss Norman, East Bend, N.C. Strawser has participated in the Garrett County Fair tractor pull the past two years. He is 12 years old and is a student at Aurora Elementary School.

Preston Farmers' Market

The notion that there is no good news for small farmers was challenged recently when the Preston Farmers' Market announced that October was its first million dollar month. The exceptional size and strength of the calf sale anchored this milestone event for the new corporation, owned since January by a group of farmers and agribusiness men.

"The thousand plus cattle and the high prices indicate that buyers and sellers alike have confidence in the management level and strength of this stockyard," stated Tom McConnell, shareholder.

"Other yards in other places enjoy months like this, but our first one is special," added Berlin Graham, another shareholder. "The bad weather last winter and the seasonal nature of this business made the going slow at first, but we made some internal changes and worked hard to get our message out and the buyers in, and now we can enjoy the results."

McConnell considers marketing a process not an isolated event and explained that a great deal of behind the scenes work is done to connect farmer-feeders to the high quality cattle from this region. "We do our best to follow up on these transactions with phone calls and visits to see that every buyer is satisfied with his purchase," McConnell stated. "PFM considers this an investment in the future. We want these buyers back next year."

"The cattle from this production area are of top quality," said Dr. Frank Cary, stockyard veterinarian. "I've prepared health papers to ship cattle from PFM to Illinois, Oklahoma, Iowa and Ohio. This area is a great resource in the livestock industry."

"This is only a starting place, noted Kate Peters, a shareholder. "We PFM investors have a vision of a great new role for the livestock industry in this area, and the success we've achieved in the last few months will go a long way to help us implement these improvements."

Among these programs PFM is inaugurating a calf wintering program, in which PFM helps local farmers to buy, treat, manage and market their cattle. This in turn will help PFM to fill its order for 450 heifers for next spring.

A bull leasing program is planned for next spring through which small farmers can have their cows bred to genetically superior bulls without the expense of purchasing and maintaining them throughout the year.

Future programs might include a brood sow-pig finishing program where PFM and farmers and local feed dealers can join forces to increase hog numbers in this area.

Joyce Taylor, a shareholder and early supporter of the PFM purchase, expressed her optimism for the future. "Back last fall investing in PFM was seen as an act of faith. I am glad to have proof that our faith was justified."

Summing up the last 12 months for Preston Farmers' Market, McConnell said, "We are an agricultural community taking responsibility for our future. We have a lot to be proud of, and even more to look forward to."

SBA Designates Disaster Area Following Secretary's Determination

U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) District Director Charles Gaston has announced that Federal disaster loans are now available to small non-farm, agriculture-dependent businesses in 23 Maryland counties, which were economically impacted as a result of damages and losses caused by drought and excessive heat which occurred on June 15, 1993 and continuing.

Counties included in this declaration are: Allegany, Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Calvert, Caroline, Carroll, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Frederick, Garrett, Harford, Howard, Kent, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Queen Annes, St. Marys, Somerset, Talbot, Washington, Wicomico, and Worcester.

The application deadline is May 2, 1994, and the filing deadline is April 11, 1994.

This disaster designation was issued as a result of similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in those counties. Farmers are not eligible to apply to SBA, however, "nurseries" that are victims of drought disasters are eligible.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operating expenses. Maximum loans to a business of up to $1,500,000 are available at four percent interest with loan terms of up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources.

Gaston advised that program information and loan applications are available by calling toll-free 1-800-358-2227. The Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) and speech impaired number is (404) 347-3751. These telephones are answered weekdays from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Applications are also available by writing the U.S. Small Business Administration, Area 2, Disaster Assistance Office, One Baltimore Place, Suite 330, Atlanta, GA 30308.

Extension Director Appoints Interim Associate Director

Craig S. Oliver, state director for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, announced this week the appointment of Nancy M. (Nan) Booth as interim associate director.

Earlier this month, Dr. Oliver assumed additional duties as interim dean for the College of Agriculture, University of Maryland at College Park. Oliver also is scheduled to become interim director of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station on January 1.

As the interim associate director, Dr. Booth will serve as a member of the College of Agriculture administrative team at the University of Maryland, assisting the dean with Extension matters.

She also will provide leadership for the administration of organizational policies that pertain to county and regional faculty members, and she will assume a leadership role for Extension programs throughout Maryland in consultation with department chairpersons, county Extension directors and the Extension administrative council.

World War II Program Slated At PSC Library

The 9th annual World War II Remembered program will be held December 5 from 1 to 4:30 p.m. This program is held in the Mary F. Shipper Library LRC of Potomac State College, Keiser, W. Va.

This program was initiated in 1985 to serve as a remembrance to all those who served in World War II, especially those from the area.

Each year there are numerous displays set up in the library. Items that can be found on display are WWII memorabilia, medals, clothing, flags, models of aircraft, tanks, warships, and items from the library's collection.

Any individual or organization is welcome to bring scrapbooks, pictures, memorabilia, and memories of experiences to share with others. Library space will be provided, but advance notice must be given. Interested persons may contact the library at (304) 788-6905 on SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT ANNOUNCED - The Veterans Affairs Medical Center Director E. L. "Lee" McNeil Jr. announced recently that Dustin Lowdermilk has been nominated for the James H. Parke Memorial Youth Scholarship Award. The scholarship was initiated in 1971 to honor James H. Parke, the first director of Voluntary Service. The purpose of the endowment is to provide educational assistance to outstanding youth volunteers serving within the Veterans Affairs health care system. Lowdermilk will compete against 170 other youth volunteers from across the country for the national scholarship. He served as a volunteer in the Social Work Service from June to August, 1992, accruing 185 hours, and from June to August of this year with 105 hours accumulated. He is the grandson of Willard and Eleanor Teets. Cranesville, W. Va. Pictured above, left to right, are McNeil, Lowdermilk, and Trolita Moody, chief of Social Work Service.

weekdays between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. by Tuesday, November 30.

DEATHS NOTED

Daniel Lyons

Daniel Lyons, 39, of New Boston, N.H. died there on October 26, 1993, following complications from an aneurysm suffered three weeks earlier. He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Mullenax Lyons, and a daughter, Jennifer. A son preceded him in death. His parents and several brothers and sisters also survive in the area there. Attending services held on Saturday, Oct. 30, were Mrs. Lyons' sister, Mrs. Betty Fint, Aurora, and her brother, Kenneth Mullenax, Centerville, Va.

Zara Pifer Boone

The body of Zara Pifer Boone, who died Nov. 1, 1993 at Takoma Park, Md., in Washington Adventist Hospital, was brought Friday to Aurora where services were held Saturday, Nov. 6, at noon from the Aurora United Methodist Church with burial in the Stemple Ridge Cemetery. Mrs. Boone was 74 and was born on Stemple Ridge June 10, 1919, a daughter of the late Cyrus and Gay Sanders Pifer.

She was a retired secretary for the Prince George's County, Maryland Board of Education.

Surviving is her husband, Marshall Boone, Hyattsville, Md., two sisters, Wilma Knapp and Nina Layman of Aurora; two brothers, Carroll Pifer of Santee, S.C., and Joseph Pifer, of Cedar Edge, Colo.

Many of her relatives and friends from the Baltimore area and also from South Carolina were in attendance for the services. Mr. and Mrs. Boone had for several years owned a summer and holiday residence on Mt. Top.

Catherine Root Knotts, 81, of Aurora, died suddenly November 6, 1993, at her home. She is survived by her husband, Junior Knotts, and two children, Robert Knotts of Aurora and Vonda Claycomb of Sandusky, Ohio. Services were held Tuesday, Nov. 9, from the Dursel Funeral Home in Oakland with burial at the Texas Cemetery, Horse Shoe Run.

VETS TALK WITH STUDENTS

West Virginia Governor Gaston Caperton has requested that each fifth grade class be visited by veterans. To comply with that request, Raymond Frantz, Sheridan Layman, and Floyd Snyder, all members of VFW Post 578, Aurora-Terra Alta, visited the Aurora fifth graders to acquaint the students with American History, speak with them concerning flag etiquette, the National Anthem, and the Pledge of Allegiance, as they begin their study of the history of the United States.

The VFW expressed appreciation to Mrs. Dixon and her class for allowing the veterans to visit.

WORLD COMMUNITY DAY OBSERVED

Seventeen women representing the Aurora, Bethel, and Stemple Ridge United Methodist Churches, the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren, and St. Paul's Lutheran Church, met Nov. 5 at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building to observe World Community Day. This ecumenical service is sponsored each year by Church Women United, of which the Aurora area CWU is a part. The theme for this year's observance was, "Healing the Church: The Ecumenical Decade." President Pat Stemple led discussion about the John 4:5-42 story of the Samaritan woman at the well. A continuation of this and an explanation of the "Red Thread" campaign was brought by the co-president, Dean Sisler.

The women shared a covered dish dinner and brought non-perishable food items for the Food for Preston program.

PERSONAL MENTION

Rick and Marcia Spaid, Sarah, Rebekah, and John Michael, Egdon, were accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Vera Nye, of Fredericksburg, Va., on a recent two-week trip to Colorado, where they visited with Marcia's sister and brother-in-law, Kathy and Rich Domingue, in Denver. They also visited in Iowa with Mrs. Nye's sisters and brothers-in-law, Marie and Hank Miller and Fran and Whitey Menschne, along with other relatives in the areas of Dennison and Woodbine. They returned, Oct. 31, to Egdon and Mrs. Nye returned to Virginia on Nov. 2.

Ruth Snyder, Aurora, underwent surgery for shoulder replacement in Garrett County Memorial Hospital. She has since returned to her home.

Paul Stemple remained a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital until last Thursday when he returned to his home in Aurora. His son, Steve Stemple, Jacksonville, Fla., spent this week with him.

Coleman Shaffer underwent out-patient surgery, Nov. 1, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. He returned that evening to his home near Aurora.

Mary Browning Center Opening Set For Nov. 24

The Mary Browning Senior Center, 104 E. Center Street, Oakland, will officially open its doors at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 24.

In order to implement the move, it is necessary to close the Oakland Senior Center at Mtn. Lake Park beginning Nov. 15, according to a spokesman for the Garrett County Community Action Committee, Inc. Although no congregate meals will be served next week, home delivered meal service will not be interrupted.

A Thanksgiving dinner will be served at noon, Nov. 24. Reservations are necessary and may be obtained by calling 334-9431, ext. 134, beginning Nov. 19. Until the staff becomes better acquainted with the new facility, the noon meal will be limited to 60 seniors, on a first-come, first-served basis.

For more information regarding the center and available activities, persons may call 334-9431, ext. 134 or ext. 137.

The Garrett County Crime Solvers organization is currently seeking information on a breaking, entering, and theft that occurred at the William Harvey residence on Walnut Bottom Road.

Sometime between August 28 and September 5, unknown persons entered the home and removed one Frontier muzzle loader gun and a Buck hunting knife in a black leather sheath.

The loss is estimated at over $200.

Any person with information about this or any other unsolved crime is urged to contact Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names nor appear in court. Rewards of up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

In Loving Memory of KATHRYN MAE SHANK

who passed away Nov. 8, 1985

If roses grow in heaven Lord,
Please pick a bunch for me.
Place them in Kathy's arms and tell her they're from me.
And when she turns to smile,
Place a kiss upon her cheek
and hold her for awhile.
Because remembering her is easy, I do it every day.
But there's an ache in my heart
that will never go away.

FRIENDSVILLE NEWS

UNITED METHODIST
The annual fellowship turkey dinner of Blooming Rose United Methodist Church will be held Saturday, Nov. 13, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the church dining room for the congregation of the church, friends, and invited guests.

Selbysport U.M.W. hosted the "World Thank Program" on Tuesday evening at the church, with 21 in attendance from the three U.M.W.'s of the Friendsville Charge (Blooming Rose, Friendsville, and Selbysport). President Mrs. Ellen Humberston gave the welcome and Dean Vitez, vice president, presented the program on "Being Thankful," with choir members singing songs and poems and readings. Refreshments were served. Each U.M.W. then had a short business session for their November meeting. Officers elected for Selbysport previously for 1994 were president, Dean Vitez, vice president, Faye Humberston, secretary, Dorothy Lowdermilk, and treasurer, Connie Vitez. Mrs. Dean Vitez and Connie will entertain Selbysport members for their annual Christmas party in December.

Greeters for Sunday school at 9 a.m. and service at 10 a.m. for Selbysport United Methodist Church on Sunday, Nov. 14, will be Ivan and Ellen Humberston.

LUTHERAN
The Lutheran Brotherhood Branch Dinner will be held Saturday, Nov. 13, at 6 p.m. at the Friendsville fire hall.

LAUREL RUN CHURCH OF GOD
The film "Jesus" based on the Gospel of Luke will be shown Sunday, Nov. 14, at 8 p.m. at the church.

Practice is held each Thursday at 7:30 (except Thanksgiving Day) and will continue until Friday, Dec. 17, and Saturday, Dec. 18, for a community Christmas Cantata, to be presented at Friendsville Elementary School. Singers are still needed. Practice is held at Laurel Run Church of God. "Friend Day" was observed at Laurel Run Church of God Sunday with 97 in attendance. Each member of the church was to invite a friend to the service. Congressman Rowce Bartlett spoke on Congressional issues concerning church and families. A dinner was served at noon.

SHARE
Sign-up for the December SHARE will be at the Friendsville fire hall on Tuesday, Nov. 23, from 7 to 8 p.m. Persons may contact Rod Bowser (746-5578) for

LIONS SPONSOR QUINTET - The Friendsville Lions Club recently sponsored the Air Force Band of Flight from the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base of Ohio, called the Huffman Prairie Winds Woodwind Quintet. Frickey Receives JWCC Scholarship

Wendy J. Frickey, Grantsville, was recently awarded a scholarship sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic Club. The scholarship is effective for a period of four years, with the recipient receiving $500 yearly.

Miss Frickey is a 1992 graduate of Northern High School. While attending Northern, she was active in the Color Guard, God Squad Club, French Club, College Connections Club, Prom Entertainment Committee, Computer Club, and served as a peer counselor. She also volunteered at Garrett County Memorial Hospital and the Goodwill Mennonite Nursing Home through the Allied Health Program.

She is presently attending Allegany Community College in Cumberland, majoring in radiology. She is employed at the Meyersdale IGA and attends Cornerstone Assembly of God Church Boynton, Pa.

Upon graduation, Miss Frickey plans to obtain employment at a local hospital. She is the daughter of Carol Wissinger, Alum Bank, Pa.

Crime Solvers Awards Callers In October

During October, the Garrett County Crime Solvers Organization awarded $150 cash to callers who provided information which led to the recovery of stolen property.

Any person with information about a crime may call Crime Solvers at 334-1975. Callers do not have to give their names, nor do they have to appear in court. Rewards up to $1,000 are available to persons who provide tips that lead to arrests.

Nazarene Pastor Offers Counseling

Abounding Hope is a free counseling ministry offered by Rev. Bruce Knorpp, pastor of the Oakland Church of the Nazarene.

During the month of November the ministry is reaching out specifically to victims of haunting dreams or flashbacks, perhaps related to post traumatic stress syndrome. Persons wishing to schedule an appointment for confidential conversation and prayer may contact Rev. Knorpp at 334-9161. The number is served by an answering machine in his absence.

COUNTRY KIDS

by Anissa Jamison, reporter

The October meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was called to order. There were over $3,000 raised on the baby beef tickets. Our club sold 211 tickets. On October 30 we met at the "DeBerry's house for a Halloween party. Then we went to Herrington Manor for a haunted hay ride. Danielle DeBerry thanked the 4-H club for sending her flowers and balloons while she was in the hospital.

Under old business we had two new members join. They are Jesse Morgan and April Harvey. We will hold elections of the new officers for 1994. At the next meeting the members are to bring a canned food for the House of Hope.

Demonstrations were given this month by David Glatfely on "Cat Care," Nick Glatfely on "How to Clean a Shotgun," and Alicia DeWitt on "Sewing."

Refreshments for next month are to be provided by the DeBerrys and the DeWitts. Demonstrations for the next meeting will be provided by Danielle DeBerry, Jennifer Barnard, Miranda Gallagher, and Alicia DeWitt.

Seventh Graders Visit Hickory Center This Fall

Nearly 200 seventh grade students from Northern and Southern Middle have attended several three-day resident programs at the Hickory Environmental Education Center this fall.

According to Joseph L. Winters, coordinator of the center, the intent of this program is to aid the seventh-graders in meeting some of the Maryland School Performance Science Standards. An additional goal is to assist these students in demonstrating the acquisition and integration of some of the major concepts associated with their life science curriculum.

During the four sessions, "hands on" activities included collecting, recording, and graphing weather data, as well as the study of Cove Run as an ecosystem. The teachers also had their students participate in an assortment of related life science activities such as predator/prey relationships, use of a compass and mapping, the study of plants around Hickory, leaf study, and others. A field trip to Little Meadows enabled students to view and learn about the reclamation of a surface mined area. They were also able to collect plant fossils that were part of the coal formation process.

Those providing instruction were Sharon Hoover, the instructional assistant at Hickory, Jolene Scofield and Linda Mosser, science teachers at Southern and Northern Middle, and Winters.

Resource personnel from Mt. Nebo included Louise Upole, Mike Fazenbaker and Terry DeWitt, compliments of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources - Forests, Heritage, Public Lands and Wildlife service. District Soil Conservationist Garry Morfoot along with Butch Miller provided a program during each session dealing with basic soil concepts and wise land use. Late afternoon programs titled Wings and Things were presented by the Department of Natural Resources. John Willella and Liz McDowell presented evening programs during each session in wildlife, herpetology and bats.

Alan Skidmore and Sharon Hoover were adult night counselors. Also assisting were selected high school students Jennifer Rephann, John Wilt, Chris Elliott, Missy Rush, Staci Kiser, Jeff Battista, Ryan Durst, Amie McKenzie, Kristi Wilt, Jason Wilburn, Tiffany Tepper, Jenn Berkeridge, Andrew Wildesen, Adam Getty, and Chrystal Elsey.

Schroyer Named 29th Division Chief Of Staff

Colonel Dale Wade Schroyer became the new chief of staff for the 29th ID L at Fort Belvoir on July 1, 1993. A Maryland resident, Colonel Schroyer is the former personnel operations officer for the Maryland National Guard based in Baltimore. He was responsible for personnel administration, recruiting and retention, health services and the soldier support center.

Colonel Schroyer's military career spans more than 33 years, with three years of active duty in Germany and 30 years of combined AGR and Technician service in the Maryland National Guard.

An Officer Candidate School graduate of the Maryland Military Academy, Colonel Schroyer has also graduated from the U.S. Army Command and General Staff College.

Previously, he was the executive officer of the 29th Division Support Command. While on this assignment he supported two rotations at the Joint Readiness Training Center at Fort Chaffee, Ark. Additionally, he supported the Division's move to Fort Bragg and the deployment of the 82nd Airborne to Saudi Arabia during Desert Shield and Desert Storm.

Among Colonel Schroyer's many decorations are the U.S. Meritorious Service Medal, the Army Commendation Medal, and Maryland's highest award, the Distinguished Service Cross.

Additionally, he served as vice president of the Army National Guard Association for the State of Maryland, after serving as the executive Director for 11 years, and is a member of the Military Order of Foreign Wars. Colonel Schroyer and his wife, the former Joyce Ann Pagano, Baltimore, have residences at Fort Belvoir, Va., and Friendsville.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Navy Airman Recruit George E. Reeves, son of Joan M. Reeves, Rt. 1, Aurora, W. Va., recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's occupational fields.

Studies include seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

Reeves is a 1991 graduate of East Preston of Terra Alta, W. Va.

Receives Medal

Sergeant Raymond P. Bixler Jr., Oakland Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion CBT, Maryland Army National Guard, was recently awarded the State of Maryland Meritorious Service Medal.

The citation accompanying the award noted: "Sergeant Bixler distinguished himself in the performance of meritorious service while serving as a heavy equipment operator for operation snowball, Company C, 121st Engineer Battalion Sergeant Bixler's professionalism and technical expertise while operating his assigned vehicle played a vital role in the emergency medical rescue of a person snowed in with no way of getting to the hospital. His ability to operate the Hemitt under adviser blizzard conditions allowed for a successful evacuation which helped save the life of Rodney Hinebaugh. Sergeant Bixler's selfless service and devotion to duty reflects great credit on him, the Maryland Army National Guard, and the State of Maryland."

U.S. Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Wesley E. Dixon, a 1985 graduate of Southern Garrett High School, was on board the tank landing ship USS Sumter, homeported in Little Creek, Va., during the 23-year-old ship's decommissioning ceremony Sept. 30.

USS Sumter was named for the city and county in South Carolina and is the third ship to bear the name. It was commissioned June 20, 1970 at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard.

During its service life it completed two deployments to Vietnam, participated in the Multi-National Peace-keeping Force in Beirut, Lebanon, and most recently supported Kurdish refugees during operation Provide Comfort. Sumter's last deployment involved operating a support of Operation Promise off the coast of the former Yugoslavia.

The Navy is decommissioning many older ships and replacing them with fewer but more capable ships in the fleet. Through a carefully structured plan to "right size" its force, newer, technologically superior ships will be part of the smaller Navy and Marine Corps team to operate in forward, littoral regions, from the sea, according to a Navy spokesman.

Dixon joined the Navy in July, 1985.

Tim Wilt has enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps and will be leaving November 15 for recruit training at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilt, Swanton, and is a 1993 graduate of Southern High School.

Jim McKay To Head Tourism Development Bd.

ABC sports commentator Jim McKay has been elected chairman of the Maryland Tourism Development Board. The selection was made Monday by the members of the board at their first meeting in Baltimore.

McKay was named to the board by Governor William Donald Schaefer. He joins 14 other members who were named to the panel last month.

"Jim McKay is the best person to chair Maryland's tourism Development Board," said Governor Schaefer. "He knows the state and its people, and has a clear understanding of what must be done to strengthen our efforts to promote Maryland as a tourism destination."

The Tourism Development Board has been directed to develop a five-year strategic plan for the promotion and development of tourism in Maryland, including a recommendation on the way the state of Maryland can consistently and competitively fund Maryland's tourism advertising and marketing efforts. The board and Secretary of Economic and Employment Development Mark L. Wasserman are expected to submit their report to the Legislative Policy Committee of the General Assembly by Jan. 1, 1994.

McKay is the founder of the Maryland Million, the annual day of racing which offers a million dollar purse for Maryland-sired thoroughbreds. In 1988, he was honored by Governor Schaefer as Maryland's Ambassador of the Year for his outstanding efforts to promote the state.

McKay, who began his career at The Baltimore Sun and WMAR-TV, has received 13 Emmy Awards for a long and distinguished career in broadcast journalism. In 1961, he served as the first host of ABC's "Wide World of Sports," the most successful year-round sports series in the history of television, and has been with the program since then. He has served as host of 11 Olympic Games, including the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary. In 1990, he was the recipient of the first-ever Lifetime Achievement in Sports Award from the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

The board also elected Nicholas Brown, executive director of the national Aquarium in Baltimore, as vice chairman (attractions); Dr. Leonard Berger, owner, president and chief executive officer of the Sheraton Fontainebleau Hotel and the Ocean Club Gateway Resort Hotel in Ocean City, as vice chairman (lodging); James T. Lloyd, executive vice president and general counsel, USAir, as vice chairman (transportation); Stephen Shriver George, general manager, Hausner's Restaurant, as vice chairman (food service); and John A. Simpson Jr., president and owner of Simpson Land Company, general partner in the Holiday Inns of Solomons and Waldorf, as secretary treasurer.

THE FURNITURE MARKET

Quality, Selection, Service & Price

Dear Customer:

We at The Furniture Market in the Grantsville Shopping Plaza cordially invite you to stop in and see our wide selection of furniture in stock for immediate delivery. We have the tri-states largest selection of famous name brands such as La-Z-Boy, Bassett, Rowe, Broyhill, Flexsteel and many more which will enhance any room in your home.

Below we have listed some facts about our store which you should know:

1. GUARANTEED LOWEST PRICE - Our everyday low prices are guaranteed in writing with a contract that guarantees the lowest prices to you or we refund the difference plus 10% bonus.
2. SHOP IN STYLE - At The Furniture Market, no other furniture and appliance store does what we do to satisfy you. You don't have to hunt around for someone to help you at the Furniture Market. We know your time is important to you, so our staff is always available to demonstrate the features and benefits of our products to help you make the best possible decision.
3. BRAND NAMES YOU CAN TRUST - The furniture industry has few recognizable brand names because there are so many manufacturers. At The Furniture Market we carry those name brands, as well as lesser known quality brands that must first meet our rigid quality standards before we offer them to you.
4. YOU MUST BE SATISFIED WITH YOUR SELECTION - If you are not satisfied with your selection for any reason, you may return your item within thirty (30) days of delivery and make a new selection.
5. FREE DELIVERY AND IN HOME SET UP - Because we want everything to be just right when you purchase from The Furniture Market, we'll deliver your purchase at no charge, on to 50 miles (one way) from our store.

In addition, we want our customers to know that we back each purchase with a commitment from our management. Please stop in and browse through our store and register for a $50.00 gift certificate drawing just for stopping by.

Sincerely,
Wayne A. Lear

SHA Awarded First Governor's Quality Award

Governor William Donald Schaefer awarded the first place Governor's Quality Award to the Maryland Department of Transportation, State Highway Administration (SHA), during a special ceremony, "State Employees: Leading the Quest for Quality," at Martin's West in Baltimore on Nov. 1.

The Governor's Quality Award is a program of the State Quality Council. The annual award honors the state agency or unit of a state agency which best exemplifies the principles of total quality: employee involvement, customer service, and continuous improvement. The first, second, and third place award winners received the "pinnacle" award, a crystal pyramid. In addition, four achievement awards in the categories of Management Leadership, Customer Orientation, Product Process Leadership, and Human Resources Excellence were presented.

"Our state employees actively seek ways to improve the services we provide," said Governor Schaefer. "It is important that we take the time to honor not only the seven state agencies which received awards, but also the quality coordinators and team members who put in place the total quality initiative over the past few years."

"Our people at the State Highway Administration are committed to Total Quality and we're extremely honored to receive the Governor's Quality Award," said State Highway Administration Hal Kassoff. "SHA is committed to the idea of continuous improvement, which means this award from the governor will be valued as an important milestone on a road that never ends."

The State Highway Administration embraced Total Quality in the mid-1980s with the inception of Quality Circles and continued to integrate quality throughout the organization with the development of Quality Councils and Quality Breakthrough Teams in the 1990s. With a SHA-wide Quality Council personally involving the Administrator, Deputy Administrator and Senior Management Team, SHA's quality network consists of 18 local councils, almost 200 teams and 68 circles.

Other awards were: second place, the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene's Joseph D. Brandenburg Center; third place, the Maryland Department of Agriculture. Category award winners were: the Maryland Department of Education's Division of Rehabilitation Services in the category of Management and Leadership; the Maryland Department of Library Development and Services in the category of Customer Orientation; the Maryland Department of Licensing and Regulation's Customer Credit Commission in the category of Product Process Leadership; and the Maryland Department of Transportation's Maryland Transportation Authority in the category of Human Resources Excellence.

The 1993 Governor's Quality Awards were produced by the Maryland Department of Personnel, the State Quality Council, and the "Maryland You Are Beautiful" program. Nineteen entries were received by the committee.

leave their jobs and the labor market while workers in education return as the fall semester begins. The departure of summer workers from the labor force tends to be the overriding trend, causing both labor and employment levels to decline. This year, the summer build-up was less of a determining factor because fewer summer jobs were available. As a result, the return of education workers to the job market was the primary factor increasing both the labor force and employment.

Other economic indicators also showed some improvement during September. Employment, both by place of residence and by place of work, increased during the month. Employment by place of residence was above the 1992 level, while employment by the place of work was marginally below the 1992 level. In the manufacturing sector, weekly hours and hourly earnings were above year-ago levels. Compared with the same month in 1992, new auto registrations, retail sales, and Port of Baltimore tonnage rose, while housing permits and air cargo through Baltimore/Washington International Airport fell slightly.

Jobless Rates

number of employed persons grew by 25,155 to 2,474,375, a gain which effectively negated seasonal job losses in August and raised employment to its highest level in the last 12 months. Total unemployment, posting its largest monthly decline since April 1992, fell by more than 14,800 people to 182,188. In September 1992, approximately 4,400 fewer Marylanders were employed and 6.5 percent of the labor force, or 172,270 people, were jobless.

Nationally, the jobless rate also declined, falling from 6.5 percent in August to 6.4 percent in September, which is above Maryland's unemployment rate.

Seasonal economics tend to play an important role in September's labor market changes as summer workers

PUBLIC NOTICE

As required by the Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR) as found in COMAR 26.04.01, "Quality of Drinking Water in Maryland," the Town of Oakland is notifying residents of a violation in turbidity measurement during August 1993. This occurred only at the Oakland Water Treatment Plant. There were no violations at the Broadford Water Treatment Plant.

"The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) sets drinking water standards and has determined that the presence of microbiological contaminants are a health concern at certain levels of exposure. If water is inadequately treated, microbiological contaminants in that water may cause disease. Disease symptoms may include diarrhea, cramps, nausea, and possible jaundice, and any associated headaches and fatigue. These symptoms, however, are not associated with disease-causing organisms in drinking water, but also may be caused by a number of factors other than your drinking water. EPA has set enforceable requirements for treating drinking water to reduce the risk of these adverse health effects. Treatment such as filtering and disinfecting the water removes or destroys microbiological contaminants. Drinking water which is treated to meet EPA requirements is associated with little to none of this risk and should be considered safe."

At the time of the violation, construction/rehabilitation was being performed at the Oakland Water Treatment Plant, as part of the on-going Water Rehabilitation Project. The only affected area was the west side of Oakland. If you have any questions, please call the Oakland Water Treatment Plant at (301) 334-3836.

Oakland Chapter Of OES Holds Advance Night

Oakland Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, met Tuesday, Nov. 2, at the

Paul B. Naylor Masonic Temple. Worthy Patron Lewis Marks called the meeting to order, and all joined in the Pledge of Allegiance, and singing the National Anthem. Rosemary Harvey, worthy matron, opened with the reading, God's Love Endureth Forever. She then greeted guests Juanita Leese, grand deputy lecturer of Maryland, and Wilda Hile, grand deputy lecturer of Maryland and grand representative to West Virginia, along with officers, members and Brothers holding Masonic honors. Juanita Leese, deputy to Oakland Chapter, made her official visit, and received a corsage and gift. A program titled Our Sugar was presented.

Wilda Hile, associate matron, and Ted Raynovich, associate patron, advanced to the east and Theresa Rumer was initiated into the Order. Mrs. Hile received a corsage, and Mr. Raynovich received a boutonniere. A program titled Blue Heaven was presented.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 16. A Thanksgiving program will be presented and signs and passes will be reviewed.

Mrs. Harvey closed the meeting with a reading, The More We Love, and refreshments were served by Marie Shroot and her committee.

GCC Breaks Ground Fri. For Residence Hall

A new phase in the life of Garrett Community College occurred last Friday morning when ground was broken for the new residence hall to be built on ground adjacent to the college by R.J. Windle Construction, Inc.

The three-story building to be named Garrett Hall will house 60 students in 30 double-occupancy units and is scheduled for completion by September 1994. The building will meet the requirements of the Americans With Disability Act, with handicapped-accessible units located on the ground level. The plans show that the first floor will also have a lounge, a laundry room with washers and dryers, and apartments for the head resident and resident assistant.

At the ground breaking ceremony, college president Dr. Steve Herman thanked Ron and JoAnn Windle for their investment in the residence hall and announced that GCC will be the first and only community college in Maryland to have a dormitory. Windle praised the college for making the cooperative effort possible and stated that he looks forward to a continuing positive relationship.

The resident hall will be owned and operated by the Windles, who also own the Panorama Motel, with a head resident and resident hall assistant responsible for student conduct. Any instance of misconduct will be reported to the college, and appropriate action will be taken.

An additional parking lot will be built east of the residence hall, and a lighted walkway will connect the new building to the campus. Refrigerators and microwaves will be available for students to rent for their rooms.

Southern High Boys Cross Country Team Captures State Championship

The 1993 Southern High School boys' cross country team earned itself a special place in the school's record book this past Saturday by winning the Maryland State Class 1A cross country championship, the first state title ever won by any Southern High team in any sport.

Not only did the Southern boys bring home the title, but they out-pointed second place Easton by 38 points and finished well ahead of the other 16 schools in the competition. Francis Scott Key placed third with 121

SAVED BY THE BELT - A Terra Alta, W.Va., woman and her two children were uninjured Tuesday afternoon when the car in which they were traveling overturned on Md. Rt. 39, west of Oakland and east of the Dilley Road. Maryland State Police, Barrack W. McHenry, investigated and noted that the use of seat belts and child safety seats prevented serious injury or death in the 1:30 p.m. accident. Joanna L. Beckman, 29, and her two children Micaela, 1, and Patrick, 2, were all taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad, where they were treated and released. Oakland volunteer firemen were also dispatched to the scene by Garrett County Emergency Management. One fireman indicated that when he arrived on the scene, the children were upside down, but safe in their car seats. Investigating officer Tfc. G.S. Becker said the accident occurred when Beckman, operating a 1984 Chevrolet Camaro, traveled off the right side of the road onto the shoulder and struck a utility pole. The vehicle then overturned. A traffic citation was logged against Beckman as a result of the investigation. Photo by Craig Phillips

Oakland Mayor Reports Bradley Manor Issue Resolved; Waiting Period Begins

After several years of research, legal battles, and two lengthy trials in the Federal Bankruptcy Court, Oakland Mayor Asa McCain reported yesterday that the dilapidated, controversial former housing development known as Bradley Manor may be bulldozed away sometime in the next few months. McCain received that information Tuesday as the final hearing came to an end with all parties agreeing to the destruction of the abandoned buildings and the construction of a new housing area.

"I'm very relieved with this decision," McCain said, "but we still have a 40-day waiting period following Tuesday's decision. I really think this may be the end of it, but I won't be completely convinced until the waiting period is over."

The parties involved in the court case were the town of Oakland, HUD (Housing and Urban Development), and the "Oakland Associates," which consists of 10 members from the Baltimore-Washington area, including Morton Sarubin. All have agreed to the proposed plan, which will include a 32-unit development similar to Oakland's Underwood South, and 32 units similar to Mtn. Lake Park's Parkwood development. The area would also include a playground and other amenities. McCain said six of the units will be specialized for persons with disabilities. The new units have been designed by Dick Devlin of Devlin, Inc.

The mayor also noted that the town of Oakland is due to receive approximately $33,000 in back taxes. The county will get approximately $80,000.

The actual destruction of the current units may take place soon after the 40-day waiting period, but the construction of the new development will probably not be initiated until the spring of 1994, McCain explained.

"The clean-up of Bradley Manor was one of my main goals when I became mayor of Oakland," McCain said. "I'm really pleased with the decision."

Two Deputies Assaulted By Frostburg Man

Two officers of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office required treatment for minor injuries following a Tuesday evening altercation with a Frostburg man. Charges are pending against Norman A. Jacobs, 60, who allegedly struck Deputy J.B. Sowers in the head with a flashlight and kicked and hit Deputy J.L. Green.

The two officers were instructed to apprehend Jacobs as he was in violation of his condition of release from the Thomas B. Finan Center, Cumberland. He was found at a residence on Jacobs Road, apparently in the Ionaconing area, and the officers, each in a separate patrol car, parked in the driveway.

The officers asked the defendant to leave the truck, and he initially agreed to do so, but as Sowers took his arm to help him out of the vehicle, Jacobs reportedly hit the officer above the left eye with a flashlight, knocking Sowers's glasses to the State Board Unanimously Approves School "Reconstitution" Measure Despite Protests

The Maryland State Board of Education this week unanimously approved an unconventional measure which would allow the state to "reconstitute" or take control of any high school that consistently fares poorly on functional tests and that has a high incidence of student drop-outs and/or poor attendance rates. The measure is part of a new plan by the state board with the purpose of raising the standards of education in Maryland.

The reconstitution measure has been the subject of much debate, with the Maryland State Teachers Association (MSTA) launching a costly campaign against the idea, and school boards across the state voicing major concerns with the plan. The Garrett County Board of Education's Assistant Superintendent

BOE To Meet On Monday To Discuss Elem. School Issue

A special meeting of the Garrett County Board of Education will be held on Monday, Nov. 22, beginning at 4:30 p.m. at the Board of Education Office. The subject of the meeting will be the Southern Area Elementary Schools project. The public is invited to attend.

The school board members and Superintendent Jerome Rysavage will be discussing their recommendation concerning the future of the Red House and Loch Lynn elementary schools. As the two schools are both in a state of extreme disrepair and have been labeled "highly combustible," the board had previously recommended a consolidated school, centrally located, to serve both school communities. This recommendation was made to the school board two months ago by a special committee of parents, teachers, principals, a Garrett County Commissioner representative, and school officials.

Local Education Reps Protest Funding Formula

"We've been shorted" was the message local education representatives conveyed to the Governor's Commission on School Funding during a public hearing held Monday in Hagerstown following the release of the commission's recommendations concerning funding disparity throughout the state.

Dr. Jerome Rysavage, Garrett County Superintendent of Schools; Beverly Ann Murphy, president of the Garrett County Board of Education; Hannah Sincell, board member, and local citizens Sheila Edwards and Warren Glatfely attended the hearing to protest the commission's recommendations.

The 23-member commission was charged with recommending changes in state school funding that ensure all schools are provided with adequate resources and to provide incentives for improvement.

But when the school board received the recommendations and compared the increase proposed for Garrett County to other poorer subdivisions in the state, concerns were raised that Garrett had been short changed.

During the hearing, Murphy told the commission, "... we are pleased with the moderate financial increases projected for use, but at the same time puzzled over the relative yields projected."

"We believe that some-

Results Of School Performance Test Reflect "Excellence" Of Local Students

Once again, the Garrett County school system showed a general improvement in meeting the state standards for the Maryland School Performance Program (MSPP), and Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Jerome Rysavage this week stated that the test results were "an excellent reflection of our youngsters and our staff."

During a meeting held this week between the Garrett County Board of Education and the Garrett County Commissioners, results of the fourth annual report were shared with the county officials after being released Monday by Dr. Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent of schools. The MSPP uses data from functional tests (reading, math, writing, and citizenship), combined with data on student participation, which includes attendance and drop-out rates.

"Quite frankly, we are pleased with the results," said Rysavage, who noted that Garrett County students, as a group, met 12 of the 13 standards for the second consecutive year, making it one of seven jurisdictions to do so. Only one jurisdiction met all 13 of the standards, he said, "so we're right there in the hunt, if you will."

He also explained that, of the 12 standards met, eight of those were at the excellent (as opposed to satisfactory) level.

"So we improved from last year even though we also met 12 of the 13 standards then," he noted.

BEING INVOLVED - GCC President Dr. Stephen Harman, left, became involved with the Northern saw-whet owl banding project last week during a nighttime visit to the site where the owls are being banded with a tape of saw-whet owl calls. The project is being overseen by Kevin Dodge, right, director of Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies and assistant professor of wildlife technologies and biology at the college. A number of GCC students and a few Frostburg State University students are taking nightly shifts to conduct the banding and research of the owls. Photos by Joe Ashby Jr. See feature on page A-6.

Former Oakland Resident Murdered In Rochester, N.Y.

A former Oakland resident who had moved to the Rochester, N.Y. area several years ago with her family was found murdered Saturday afternoon in her family's automobile.

Jennifer Rae Koon, 18, a student at St. John Fisher College, was found shot to death by police at 1:30 p.m. after family and friends became concerned when she failed to return to her dormitory after leaving her part-time job.

An unconfirmed report indicated that Ms. Koon had stopped at an automatic teller machine to obtain money. That same report indicated that she was allegedly abducted by as many as three men.

Police are still investigating the shooting and do believe robbery was a motive. They did say that the body was found in her vehicle in a remote area far from where she normally traveled, according to family and

Bowie Woman Critically Injured In Auto Mishap Upgraded To "Serious" Condition

A Bowie woman who was critically injured in a two-vehicle mishap Saturday afternoon and was initially listed in "critical" condition, has been upgraded to "serious" condition, according to a spokesperson at Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va.

Sharon L. Eldridge, 28, was a passenger in a 1993 Ford Taurus operated by John C. Mullaney Jr., 28, Silver Spring. Reports filed at the McHenry Barrack of the Maryland State Police indicate that Mullaney was pulling his vehicle from a parking lot onto U.S. Rt. 219 in McHenry and pulled into the path of an oncoming vehicle operated by Robert E. Berry, 43, Centerville, Va.

Police said Berry attempted to avoid collision by braking, but the vehicles collided. Eldridge and Berry were both initially transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, by the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad. Berry was treated and released and Eldridge was transferred to Ruby Memorial.

Two passengers in the Berry vehicle, Jay P. Berry, 13, and Diane J. Berry, 9, both of Centerville, were apparently not injured in the 5:45 p.m. mishap. Mullaney was charged by Tfc. P.R. Brown, investigating officer.

Two women were treated and released at Garrett County Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning following a near head-on collision on Md. Rt. 42.

LOCAL COUPLE HONORED BY GOVERNOR - A Grantsville couple was among those honored by Governor William Donald Schaefer last week in Annapolis after they were named Garrett County's "Most Beautiful People" for 1993. Daniel and Hazel Klotz, pictured third and sixth from left above, were so honored first by a Garrett County selection committee and then by the governor during a Nov. 10 ceremony at St. John's College in Annapolis. Mr. Klotz was recognized for his lifelong volunteer efforts in the county, which include membership in the Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, Grantsville Rotary Club, and as a member of the Garrett County Fair Board. Mrs. Klotz is credited with organizing the Grantsville 4-H Club and is an active member of the Casselman Valley Homemakers Club. Each of the state's 23 counties and Baltimore City selected local honorees for the seventh annual awards program. Also in the photo above, from left, are: Senator John Hafer, District 1; Grantsville Mayor Fred Holliday; Garrett County Commissioner John Braskey; Governor Schaefer, and Comptroller Louis Goldstein.

GROUND BROKEN FOR RESIDENT HALL - Ground was broken Friday morning adjacent to Garrett Community College for a resident facility for the college. The proposed three-story building to be named Garrett Hall, will house 60 students in 30 double-occupancy units and is scheduled for completion by September of 1994. Ron and JoAnn Windle are building the facility and will be the owners/operators. The college will manage any misconduct reported by a head resident or assistant. Pictured left to right are Doug Sites, GCC trustee and chairperson of the resident hall committee; Charles Bender, trustee chairperson; JoAnn Windle, Kristen Windle, and Ron Windle of the RJ Construction Company, Delegate 1-A George Edwards; Earl Clerk, trustee; Dr. Stephen Herman, president of GCC; Rob Michael, trustee; District One Senator John Hafer; and Barbara Briggs, GCC Foundation.

UNCOVERED LOADS NOT ALLOWED — Even though the above sign is clear in its directive, a number of individuals are apparently ignoring it, according to Rodney Giotfely, director of Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling, who has reported that complaints are increasing about loads of loose material being hauled to the Round Glade Landfill in uncovered vehicles, and that material falling out onto the roadway as a result. County officials are attempting to step up enforcement of the ordinance that applies to hauling trash as a result. See story

Complaints Increase Over Hauling Of Uncovered Loads

County government and local law enforcement agencies have recently noted an increase in complaints concerning trucks hauling loose material that has not been properly covered. The problem has been particularly apparent to residents living along the Oakland Sang-Run Road as a certain percentage of uncovered pick-ups and trucks delivering refuse or construction debris to the Round Glade Landfill at times spill some of their contents onto the roadway or adjacent properties, according to Rodney Giotfely, director of the Garrett County Office of Solid Waste and Recycling.

Garrett County Sheriff M. Van Evans is advising residents that securing of loads is required under Section 24-106 of the Transportation Articles of the Maryland Annotated Code. Specifically, this law requires that loose material, defined as dirt, sand, gravel, wood chips, or other material that could blow, fall, or spill from the vehicle as a result of movement or exposure to wind, not be transported on the highway unless the load and any covering on the load are fastened to prevent the load or covering from becoming loose and detached or from any way endangering other users of the highway.

The law also specifies that the owner of a vehicle from which dirt, debris, or agricultural products has fallen on the highway is responsible for removing that debris from the highway within a reasonable time.

According to Giotfely, Garrett County's Ordinance Governing the Disposal of Solid Waste also clearly states that it is unlawful to haul solid waste on an open motor vehicle on a public highway without a cover sufficient to prevent the waste from blowing off the vehicle. "If a violator of this ordinance, a violator could be fined up to $1,000.

Individuals transporting waste to collection or disposal facilities or transporting other material that could easily blow off a vehicle must make every effort to properly cover and secure the load. Materials blowing off vehicles can pose a serious traffic safety hazard as well as contributing to the general litter problem along county and state highways, said Giotfely.

Sheriff's Office Investigates Gun Theft Report

The theft of six guns and a scope was reported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and an investigation into the crime is underway. Also under investigation is the theft of a crossbow and other property items stolen from an Oakland man, and the destruction of several mailboxes near the intersection of Monte Vista and Underwood roads.

Denver D. Beitzel, Accident, contacted police on Nov. 11 after he found his gun cabinet standing open and six guns stolen. He had left his home at 7:30 a.m. and returned at 3:30 p.m. The guns were taken during his absence. The house was unlocked at the time, Beitzel said.

The stolen guns included a Winchester rifle, Winchester semi-automatic, a Winchester 12-gauge pump, a Remington semi-automatic 22 calibre rifle, a Hi-Standard 22 calibre pistol, and a muzzle-loader percussion (.45 cal.). Also taken was a Remington Weaver scope.

The loss in this case has been estimated at $1,915. Other items of value in the home were not disturbed.

Donald Upole, Oakland, reported the theft of a P.S.E. Star Fire crossbow, a camouflage coat, a bow release, and a deer call. The loss has been estimated at $600.

This theft, which took place at the victim's residence, was reported on Sunday.

Four persons contacted the sheriff's office on Nov. 14 to report the destruction of their mailboxes. The vandalism took place late Saturday night along Underwood Road near the intersection with Monte Vista, according to the report.

Persons reporting property destruction were Ronald L. Murphy, Melony Iphold, David Paugh, and Harold Bittinger. Losses ranged from $20-$50.

A house owned by American Trust Bank was apparently broken into sometime between late October and Nov. 14. The incident was reported by Jeff McCauley, who told police that someone had pried open an Andersen window in the basement and had entered the house.

Nothing was stolen in the incident, but damage done to the window was estimated at $300, according to the report.

GC School System Wins Award For Career-Tech Program

The Garrett County Public Schools System won an Award of Excellence at the recent 11th Annual Career and Technology Education Awards Ceremony, held in Baltimore. Awards were presented to outstanding business partnerships, career development systems, change agents, student organization chapters, instructors, and programs.

The Career Development System in Garrett County is designed to provide outcomes and activities at every grade level, Kindergarten through 12. It is a collaborative system, in that many teachers and counselors share the responsibility for its delivery. Each student has an individual career plan. The system integrates all curriculum areas, including tech prep. A variety of techniques are used, including visions, field trips, interest inventories, aptitude tests, and workplace readiness materials. A network has been formed among teachers, counselors, and the business community to assist in the implementation and monitoring of the system.

"Garrett County has developed a system that will effectively assist students in their educational and career decisions," a spokesperson said.

Over 225 administrators, teachers, students, and business people attend the ceremony held at Martin's West in Baltimore.

Pears are wonderful now. Bake them for dessert with a crisp-crumble topping. Peel, core and slice 6 pears into a 2 quart dish that's sprayed with oil, toss with lemon, cinnamon and nutmeg. Crumble flour, margarine, brown sugar and oatmeal for topping. Bake 25 minutes at 375.

Check the label on the tofu you buy. If it is made with nigan or magnesium chloride, half a cup of the firm tofu contains 258 mg of important calcium. But if the tofu has been prepared with calcium sulfate, it has 860 mg.

Veal roasted in the oven may dry out. Browned and then cooked on top of the stove, Italian style, it stays moist and delicate. Cook with lots of herbs, and just a little wine. Simmer slowly with the pot cover just ajar. Add a small amount of water if needed.

Ordinary scrambled eggs for brunch? Not if they're cooked gently into barely wilted arugula, with crumbled goat cheese folded in just before serving. Add toasted Italian or French bread for crunch.

Simon Concert Plans Finalized; Set For Sunday

The program for the November 21 organ concert by Dr. Geoffrey Simon, one of the nation's top organists, has been finalized, according to an organizer of the event. The concert will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at St. Mark's Lutheran Church in Oakland and will be followed by a reception in the church community room.

Simon's program will be structured around four major organ works representing four main periods of musical style: the Baroque (Bach), the Classical (Mozart), and the early and late Romantic (Liszt and Viennese). Pieces to be performed include: Toccata, Adagio, Fugue in C Major by Bach; Aria by Peeters; Fantasia in f minor, K. 608, by Mozart; Fantasia and Fugue on B.A.C.H., by Liszt; and Carillon de West- minster, from Pieces de Fantasia, by Viennese, as well as hymns For All the Saints, Lord, Enthroned in Heavenly Splendor, All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name, and Come, You Thankful People, Come.

Simon will also perform improvisation on a hymn tune suggested by the audience.

Dr. Simon holds the doctor of musical arts degree from the Peabody Conservatory of The Johns Hopkins University and is a fellow of the College of Church Musicians. A past dean of the D.C. Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, he currently serves as cantor (organist and choirmaster) at the Lutheran Church of the Reformation on Capitol Hill.

For the past seven years he has also been the conductor of the Library of Congress Choral.

He has appeared as organist and a conductor throughout the United States and in Europe, receiving rave reviews from critics around the world. He served as music director for the 1985 celebration of Martin Luther's 500th birthday, for which he conducted a Kennedy Center concert with 80 members of the National Symphony Orchestra, organist Paul Manz, and the Howard University Choir.

In October of last year, he played recitals in Leipzig, Germany, and in Warsaw, Poland. The Leipzig program was played on the two organs at the world famous St.

Thomas Church, where Johann Sebastian Bach served as cantor. Simon is one of the few Americans honored with an invitation to play at this historic church. In Warsaw, he celebrated Reformation Sunday by playing an all-Bach program in the high-Baroque Roman Catholic Church of St. Anne, one of the few Warsaw churches to survive the Nazi destruction in 1945.

Dr. Simon last appeared in Oakland as the organist for the Garrett Choral Society's performance of Mendelssohn's Elijah last spring. In October of this year he joined other noted Washington, D.C., choral conductors Paul Hill and Norman Schribner in a program celebrating the centennial of The American University, where all three have served as director of university choirs.

The public is invited to attend Simon's concert this Sunday at St. Mark's Church. There is no admission charge.

Dr. Simon will also be the guest organist for St. Mark's regular worship service that day at 10 a.m.

Community College Graduates Rate Job Preparation

The results of a survey of 1992 graduates of the state's 17 community colleges released recently by the Maryland Higher Education Commission show that the graduates were quite satisfied with their community college experience and rated highly the way that their respective institutions prepared them for employment or for transferring to a four-year campus.

The vast majority of graduates (81%) rated their preparation for transfer to a four-year institution as very good or good. Nearly three-fourths of the respondents (73%) reported having achieved completely their most important goal for attending a community college by the time they graduated. An overwhelming majority of graduates (89%) rated the overall quality of their community college as good or very good; less than 1% thought it was poor.

More than three-fourths (78%) of the graduates who held full-time employment reported that their college did a very good or good job preparing them for a job. Of those employed full-time, 51% indicated that their job is in the same field as their community college program, and an additional 28% stated that it is somewhat related. Graduates in health sciences technology (84%) and natural science technology (71%) were the most apt to have positions in the same

JUDGE THAYER SWORN IN - Garrett County Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer III was sworn into his office Tuesday by David Martin, Garrett County clerk of the circuit court. Thayer's 15-year term as judge expired November 7, but he was re-appointed to that post by Governor Wm. Donald Schasfer to serve until the next general election, which will be next November. Thayer was first appointed to the bench in January 1977 to finish the unexpired term of Judge Stuart Hemill and was then elected in 1978 for a 15-year term. He also filed this week for re-election to the same seat next year.

Nearly 90% of the employers surveyed indicated that they were likely or highly likely to hire another graduate from the same program and would recommend that other employers hire a graduate of this program.

American Trust Bank Receives Superior Rating

American Trust Bank has received the best possible rating from the Federal Depositors Insurance Commission (FDIC) during a recent Community Reinvestment Act evaluation.

The CRA was developed to encourage financial institutions to help meet the credit needs of the communities in their service areas. During the examination, the FDIC rigorously evaluates the institution's record of meeting those needs, based on numerous assessment factors. A rating of outstanding, satisfactory, or needs to improve is assigned, depending upon the institution's CRA performance.

American Trust Bank received the best possible rating, which identifies the bank as having an outstanding record of, and a leader in, ascertaining and helping to meet the credit needs of its service area in a manner consistent with its resources and capabilities.

Puppetry at Its Best...

We are beginning to sense that if one were to look closely at the 12 members of the Maryland State Board of Education, he would see numerous strings ascending from their bodies, with the top end of those strings being clutched by the hand of none other than Governor William Donald Schaefer.

It seems that Governor Schaefer's desire to be the "education hero" for the state of Maryland before he leaves office next year is so intense that he often steps well outside the realm of realism. One of his proposals, which was passed unanimously this week by the state board, allows state takeover, or "reconstitution," of county schools if those schools do not meet at least minimum performance standards. Beginning in January, the state will begin to identify such schools, after which outside, private companies will be hired to come in and take over their operation. The cost of the takeovers would have to be absorbed by the local boards of education.

We do not have any great fears that a single Garrett County school will be targeted for takeover, because our performance levels are among the best in the state (see the most recent report on our front page today). But we see this as just one more unfunded, unrealistic mandate from the Schaefer administration that could pose serious problems.

Our intent here, though, is not to go into the pros and cons of this new mandate. Our bigger concern is that the members of the state board, along with State Superintendent Nancy Gramick, appear to be just a bunch of yes-people who will do whatever the governor wants. It is amazing to us that the board unanimously approved this radical proposal, despite the fact that practically every local board of education, as well as the Maryland State Teachers Association and other teacher groups, vehemently opposed it. The many educators who expressed their opposition, and presented what we believe to be valid, intelligent concerns, were totally ignored by the state board.

We also know of at least one former member of the state board of education who was not re-appointed this past year after he opposed Governor Schaefer's proposal to require completion of so many hours of community "volunteer" service by students before they can be awarded their diplomas. Perhaps the appointment of state board of education members should not rest entirely in the hands of the governor. Such a consideration might be an excellent agenda item for the next general assembly.

The people calling the shots for education in this state, including the governor, have lost their grip on reality. We would invite each of them to come spend a few days right in the classrooms of our schools and observe just how far out of kilter things have become as a result of their actions and inactions.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
I certainly enjoyed our visit to Garrett County the weekend of the leaves.

Everyone was so friendly and it was lovely, except for an eyesore on Marsh Hill Road.

How could the zoning people let a builder destroy a hillside? If you are not careful, soon all the mountains will have ugly holes in them and no pretty leaves.

I do hope he will have to replant all the trees he cut down.

Sincerely,

My daughter attends Southern High School. She is in Southern High School cross country. She really tries very hard. She even got hurt, but never gave up. But not once did her name get put in the paper or on the radio saying she was hurt.

We have lived in Garrett County for almost 10 years and if you are low-income, nobody knows you. Money talks. If you want to join something in high school, you need two things: money and a well-known last name.

To the Editor,

In November, our thoughts turn to Thanksgiving, family and friends, and the fellowship that holidays bring. November also brings National Alzheimer's Disease Awareness Month, a time to enhance awareness about this catastrophic illness that steals the mind and robs families of precious time, financial resources and the companionship of people they love.

The statistics are alarming - with over four million Americans suffering from Alzheimer's Disease nationwide, 7,000 of whom reside in the Western Maryland community. As the aging population grows, the number of people who are at risk of developing Alzheimer's will increase dramatically. Within 50 years, more than 14 million Americans could be suffering from this relentless disorder.

Alzheimer's Disease is a progressive disorder that attacks the brain and results in impaired memory, thinking and behavior. It is especially cruel, slowly robbing its victims of their memory, personality and ability to perform day-to-day activities. Although the majority of its victims are people over the age of 65, it can also affect individuals in their 40's and 50's.

The cost of caring for a person with Alzheimer's at home can exceed $18,000 per year. When nursing home care becomes necessary, that cost leaps to $36,000 and beyond per year. Disturbingly, the bulk of these costs are not covered by Medicare or private insurance.

Families of Alzheimer's patients are actively aware that the toll taken by Alzheimer's Disease goes beyond the individuals who are afflicted with it. For every Alzheimer's patient, there are at least four other people whose lives are changed irrevocably by the illness. Families and caregivers live with the consuming demands of providing 24-hour care to loved ones diagnosed with Alzheimer's or a related disorder. They are often in desperate need of practical and emotional support to help ease the burden of care until a cure is found.

Fortunately, the Alzheimer's Association is working to find the cause and cure of Alzheimer's Disease and to provide support and assistance to Alzheimer's patients and their families. Locally, we are here to stand by families with a Garrett County Family Caregiver Support Group that meets the last Monday of each month at 7 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department, located at 253 N. 4th Street, in Oakland. For more information, please contact Donna McClintock at (301) 334-8113 or 895-3111.

In addition, the Alzheimer's Association sponsors a toll-free Helpline at 1-800-696-8830 and has an extended lending library for the use of all Western Maryland residents.

Donna McClintock, MSW

On behalf of Hospice of Garrett County, Inc., I would like to publicly thank the Jr. Woman's Civic Club for their continued support of Hospice in the past. The Jr. Woman's Civic Club will be holding their annual spaghetti dinner and bake sale on Saturday, Nov. 20, from 4 until 8 p.m. The dinner will be held at the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department. Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $3.50 for children. The proceeds from this event will be donated to Hospice. This is their way of helping us to serve the terminally ill and their families in Garrett County.

We sincerely appreciate their support and urge the public to attend this dinner.

To the Editor:

We would like to take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt congratulations to the Southern High School Boys' Cross Country Team for their recent victory in bringing home a State Championship Title.

Our son is a member of the team and as such we have had the privilege of coming to know many of the fine young men who went on to compete in the state finals. They are extraordinarily talented, committed gentlemen who certainly deserve this honor.

We especially want to congratulate Coach Carl

Booth. He is the epitome of what a coach should be. His success lies in the patience, kindness, and strong work ethic he embodies. Mr. Booth was always there to encourage each boy to do his best. He never emphasized winning, but rather excellence in attaining one's personal best. Many, many times we heard these boys say "we've just got to win for Coach Booth!" They sought to please him because he was always there for them.

Our hats go off to you, Coach Booth, and to all of the young men who helped bring to this level of success!

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones

By the time many of you read this, the American Cancer Society's Great American Smokeout will be nearly half over, but it's not too late to encourage those who are trying to quit to keep trying. Don't give up. The day is already half over.

Break your routine. Go shopping. Most stores don't allow smoking inside. Or reward yourself by dining in a restaurant that is smoke-free, or at least in one with a no-smoking section. In the past year, Garrett County has seen an increase in such places. Just call ahead to inquire about a no-smoking policy. Also, the money you save from quitting smoking will very soon pay for that meal.

Maryland School Performance Program
(This article was written by Paul Harr, local accountability coordinator.)

The Maryland School Performance Program is a comprehensive school improvement approach to accountability. This approach is designed to ensure that each school provides an educational program that results in success for every Maryland student. The Maryland School Performance Program is a major strategy for achieving both the state's "Schools for Success" and the "American 2000" goals.

The fourth annual Maryland School Performance Program Report (1993) provides student performance information at the school, school system, and state levels and will also include supporting information to describe school, school system, and state characteristics in the areas of student enrollment, mobility, kindergarten experience, special programs and services, fiscal information, staffing, and length of the school year and day. Norm-referenced standards and test results are also provided.

This year's "Report Card" shows that this county's schools met 12 of the 13 original standards. This rate was met for the second consecutive year. In 1991, the system met six of 13 standards, and in 1990, the school met three of eight levels of performance. Local schools achieved excellent standards in eight areas compared with five areas in 1992. The excellent standards were achieved this year in functional reading, writing, and citizenship for the ninth grade, and for reading, mathematics and writing for the 11th grade; and the promotion rate at the elementary school level. Another excellent standard for the 1992-93 school year was one of 97% of the students passing all of the functional tests as reported at the end of grade 11.

The satisfactory level of performance was met in four data-based areas: the number of students passing the functional mathematics test at the ninth grade level, the citizenship component at grade 11, and attendance at the elementary and secondary levels. The drop-out rate, which was reported at the satisfactory level of 2.7 for 1992, rose to 4.3 in 1993.

While giving evidence of improvement, the county report also indicates that the schools face challenges in meeting new proposed state standards on the Maryland School Performance Assessment Program tests. Countywide average scores, as well as statewide scores, fell short of the state standards in three demanding tests in reading, mathematics, social studies, and science given each May at the third, fifth, and eighth grades.

Each of the 16 county schools will release their own performance reports by December 1.

What's Happening In Our Schools?
*Frostburg State University honored several distinguished scholars and their parents at the Maryland Distinguished Scholar Dinner on Nov. 15.

*Students will be dismissed at noon on Nov. 24, the day before Thanksgiving. Students will not return to school until Wednesday, Dec. 1, since school staff will be involved in staff development activities on November 29-30.

*Ted Gardella, a Distance Learning Instructor for Tune in Math and Science (TIMS), will be visiting several of Mrs. Langan's seventh grade math classes at Northern Middle on December 3.

have a cigarette, try, try again. It's still not too late to quit. If you can make it through one day, go for two but just think of it as one day at a time.

Don't go it alone. Try quitting with a friend or family member. Tell others you are quitting and ask for their support.

So, go ahead and quit—Do it now, do it today; do it for yourself, your health and your wallet; do it for your family, their peace of mind and their health, and, finally, do it to be a good role model to your kids. All of these reasons should be more important to you than the tobacco habit.

To the Editor:

The fourth annual Mountaintop Soccer Association awards dinner was held last week at the Elks Lodge with 450 soccer enthusiasts attending. Rhonda and her staff did an outstanding job efficiently serving a complete tasty dinner to every guest.

Cindy Kutchman and her committee of Sherry Harris, Sally Mark, Rob Michael, Adele Naylor, Dawn Panther and Linda Stevens are to be commended for dinner arrangements that enabled the check-in, program and buffet line to run smoothly. Thanks to excellent pre-planning by Mrs. Kutchman, the entire event was accomplished in just two hours.

Thanks are also in order to Carl Friend of Friend's Radio & TV for setting up TV and VCR stations to view the youth soccer games from this season. Debbie Gorsalski, with assistance from the Dave Benders and Bob Tresslers, recorded hours of soccer games from the Under 8 division through the Under 14 division. Thank you, Debbie!

The Republican, as always, was there for photographs of the trophy winners. Thank you for being so dependable.

Kudos to our sponsors, many who were in attendance at the dinner to receive their appreciation plaques: A&A Realty, Ali Ghan Shrine, Arrowhead, Bausch & Lomb, Diamond Auto Glass, Englander's Pharmacy, First United National Bank & Trust, Inlet Motor Lodge, Oakland V&S Variety, Party Line, Point View Inn, Bailey Realty, Rob Michael State Farm Insurance, Shaffer Ford Sales, The Republican, The Vision Group, The Toy Chest, and UNO Deep Dish.

1993 was a great year for soccer in Garrett County! We look forward to an even better '94.

To the Editor:

How many times does the average parent tell their child: "Do as I say—not as I do." How often is this advice heeded? I know many, many parents who look up from the television and say to their son or daughter: "Why don't you read a book?" Is it any wonder that children choose not to read books on their own time when their parents have made a choice to use free time for watching television, a video or playing a game, rather than reading a book?

It should come as no surprise that a national

Senior Citizens' Menus

"Eating Together" sites are now operating two days per week. The menu for the week of Nov. 22-26 is as follows:

Day 1 - Baked chicken breast, stuffing, whipped potatoes, mixed veg., hot roll, cherry cobbler.

Day 2 - Pork chop, parmesan potatoes, peas, oat muffin, apple crisp.

Coffee, tea, and milk are served with all meals.

On occasion, a site may opt to make a substitution in the menu. Senior citizens who wish to eat at one of the "Eating Together" sites are asked to call the individual site to check the menu for the day and to make reservations.

RUTH ENLOW LIBRARY

by Sull McCartney

It was a busy summer for Friends of the Library. The two big events were the arrival of a new director and another successful American Trust Bank Charity Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Emily Ferren, our new library director, has now been on the job for about a month. Emily stated at the Friends' annual meeting on October 20, that her first priority will be to continue the tradition of outstanding service provided by The Ruth Enlow Library. If you haven't met Mrs. Ferren, stop by the Library and introduce yourself.

The Children's Book Fund received almost $15,000 from American Trust Bank's fifth annual Charity Golf Tournament. Since the inception of the fund five years ago, approximately $50,000 have been raised for children's books. I must admit that I am amazed that we have been so successful. Thanks to the American Trust Bank, tournament committee members Jim Wallin and Gary Yoder, the Friends' Board of Directors, volunteer helpers, golf tournament participants, and all of the sponsors who have contributed to this fund.

All funds received for children's books are turned over to a special committee comprised of members of Friends, library employees, school librarians, and parents. This committee is responsible for material selection and purchases.

I have read several outstanding books since my last column. My favorite was, All The Pretty Horses by Cormac McCarthy, winner of the 1992 National Book Award. Very briefly, it is the story of two Texas boys who run away on horseback to Mexico. During the course of their journey they learn some hard lessons about growing up and life in general.

center line and struck the Wagner vehicle.

Both Wagner, an infant in the Wagner vehicle, was in a car safety seat and was uninjured in the mishap.

Fuller was charged with failure to keep right of center and a seat belt violation. The Friendsville Volunteer Fire Department was also dispatched to the scene.

THREE HURT

Three West Virginia men were injured in a Friday mishap on U.S. Rt. 40 and were transported to Ruby Memorial Hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad where they were reportedly treated and released.

Roy L. Prunty, 25, Capon, W.Va., driver of the vehicle, and passengers Bruce L. Garrett II, 20, Flower, W.Va., and Jeffrey S. Wine, 21, Capon, were all treated for injuries.

Tfc. A.S. MacLane investigated the 8:15 p.m. mishap and said Prunty was driving a 1988 Nissan pickup truck and towing a 1984 Chevrolet Chevette on a dolly. The vehicle reportedly began to sway causing the pickup to spin counter-clockwise. The pickup left the roadway into the median and overturned. The dolly broke away from the pickup and came to rest on the right roadside after striking several trees.

TREATED, RELEASED
A 17-year-old Oakland driver was treated and released last Thursday from the local hospital following a two-vehicle mishap at the intersection of Mayhew Inn Road and Lake Shore Drive.

The juvenile was operating a 1988 Ford Taurus south on Lake Shore Drive and reportedly failed to yield right of way to a 1992 Pontiac Grand Prix, operated by Robert D. Burdette, 29, Beckley, W.Va. The juvenile's vehicle struck the Burdette vehicle in the right rear side.

Tfc. G.S. Becker investigated the 5:50 p.m. mishap and charged the juvenile with failure to yield the right of way.

STRIKES DEER
Michael M. Murphy, 17, Grantsville, was injured last Wednesday, November 10, when a deer crossed into the path of his vehicle. He was reportedly transported to Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, by the Northern Rescue Squad where he was treated and later released.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater investigated the 10 p.m. mishap and said Murphy swerved to avoid striking the deer and ran off the right side of the road, striking a fence post. No charges were filed.

DWI ARRESTS

Healthier Year Committee Meets To Set Priorities

The Garrett Countians For A Healthier Year 2000 Advisory Committee met recently to further prioritize health objectives for Garrett County. Objectives for 10 focus areas were provided by task forces that have worked to establish priorities throughout the past year.

Members of the Advisory Committee voted and discussed approximately 45 health priorities before deciding on the top six objectives. Further discussion centered on the final wording of each individual objective.

The top six local health priorities for the year 2000 that were selected include: 1.) Heart Disease and Stroke; provide education and a supportive community environment that will encourage children and adults to practice healthy behaviors emphasizing physical activity and food choices; 2.) Alcohol and other Drugs; prevent children and youth from using alcohol and other drugs by promoting and encouraging prevention programs; 3.) HIV, STD, and Family Planning; increase the number of people aged 10-18 who have discussed the health issues, including HIV, STD, family planning and pregnancy with their parents and/or have received information through another parentally endorsed source, such as youth, school, or religious programs; 4.) Maternal and Infant Health; assure certified child day care that is affordable, accessible, and available for after-school and shift work hours; 5.) Tobacco; prevent children and youth from using tobacco products and prevent their exposure to ETS; and 6.) Unintentional Injury; implement a coordinated, comprehensive injury control program with a special emphasis on reducing transportation and agricultural injuries.

Additional areas in the original 15 task forces included: Cancer, Child Health, Mental Health, Oral Health, Solid Waste Management, Water Quality, Educational & Community-Based Programs, and Violent & Abusive Behavior.

GCSO Charges Three Men With Drug Possession

Three local men were arrested by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office this week on the charge of marijuana possession. Other activities of the officers included three arrests for DWI (driving while intoxicated), one for battery and property destruction, and the serving of several bench warrants.

A truck operated by David P. Shaffer, 35, Swanton, was traveling eastbound on Rt. 135 on Saturday at 1 a.m. when Dep. J. Sowers stopped the vehicle near Boiling Springs Road for an equipment violation. Shaffer was subsequently charged with DWI.

According to the report, the officer found cause to search a passenger in the car, William W. Sweitzer, 22, Oakland. The defendant was apparently found to be in possession of marijuana and related paraphernalia, and was charged accordingly. A search of Shaffer also resulted in the discovery of drug paraphernalia, according to the report, and he was also charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS).

In a separate drug case, a McHenry man was charged with possession of marijuana when officers responded to a complaint of a suspicious vehicle parked along Broadford Road. The complaint was logged at about 4:25 a.m. Saturday, and officers responded to the area where they found the car to be abandoned by the driver. Two passengers were still in the vehicle, and they told police that the driver, Brian K. Griffin, 22, had walked away as a result of an argument.

Griffin came back to the vehicle a short time later, according to the report, and reportedly admitted to be the owner of a suspicious pipe found in the car, which led to the possession charge.

A Swanton man was charged with DWI Friday. Delmas D. Harris, 32, was arrested by Dep. D. McLaughlin on Rt. 135 in Mtn. Lake Park. The defendant apparently pulled out of the parking lot at the Long Branch Saloon and was followed by the officer, who observed his vehicle cross the center line five times and the white line six times within a mile.

An Elk Garden, W.Va., man was stopped on Rt. 135 on Saturday and charged with DWI. Michael W. Paugh, 29, apparently rode onto the berm twice within a half mile. The arrest took place at approximately 11 p.m.

Theodore F. Sweitzer, 22, Oakland, was arrested for DWI on Sunday at 2 a.m. The defendant apparently drove onto the berm three times in less than one mile, which led to the traffic stop.

A Friendsville man was charged with battery and destruction of property this week. Raymond D. Dick, 28, is accused of pushing Sherry Snyder during a domestic altercation. He also allegedly hit her vehicle with a shovel. The altercation took place on Oct. 28, according to the report.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Robert E. Locke, 23, Oakland. He apparently failed to appear in court to face charges of battery and breaking and entering. The warrant was served by Oakland City Policeman S. Groves.

Geoffrey R. Zurgable, 48, Oakland, was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant Tuesday. He is accused of probation violation, according to the report.

Todd S. Melanson, 24, Uniontown, Pa., was arrested on the strength of a bench warrant issued by Garrett County District Court. He apparently failed to appear in court to face traffic charges.

Oakland Couple Treated After Sunday Mishap

An Oakland couple were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital Sunday morning after being involved in a three-vehicle mishap at the intersection of Oak and Fourth streets in Oakland.

Merritt Feather, 82, and Margaret Feather, 81, were transported to the local hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad.

Sgt. Ernest Alexander of the Oakland City Police Department investigated the mishap and stated that Mr. Feather, operating a 1989 Dodge Dynasty south on Fourth Street, failed to yield the right of way at the intersection of Oak Street and struck a 1976 Chevrolet Camaro, operated by Beulah Hickson, 65, Herndon, Va.

The Hickson vehicle then struck an unmarked police vehicle, operated by Deputy Randy Sines, and two parked vehicles.

Feather was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

GCC Staff And Students Give A Hoot About The Northern Saw-Whet Owl And Its Migration Patterns

by Pam Ashby
Garrett Community College natural resources and wildlife technologies students and a few students from Frostburg State University are currently taking part in a unique project - banding Northern saw-whet owls to aid in the study of migration patterns in the Appalachian Region. The project is ably overseen locally by Kevin Dodge, director of Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies at GCC and assistant professor of wildlife and biology.

The Northern saw-whet owl can be found as far north as Alaska and Nova Scotia and as far south as Mexico and from coast to coast. They've even been spotted on boats on the Great Lakes.

Dodge explained that the banding in this region is conducted during the months of October and November. For obvious reasons, the area in which the banding is taking place is not divulged to the general public.

Students must commit to spending alternating nights at the site which includes an antiquated shed, equipped with banding and data-collecting devices, a kerosene heater, and a cot. Under Dodge's frequent, careful supervision, the students generally work in pairs. This is the second year the college has participated in the project. And while no prior nestings were found, the students did find a nest this year.

To safely capture the Northern saw-whet owls for banding, a series of seven nets (250-300 feet) are placed near an audio lure (a tape of saw-whet owl calls). The owls respond to the lure and fly into the netting. Banders then gently untangle them and transport them in banding tubes to the data control center (shed) some several hundred yards away. The shed has had some improvements this year because of leftover grant funds.

The Northern saw-whet owl is so named because of its rasping call. It is often what might be termed "tame" because it seems to be unafraid of humans and can even be captured by hand, although that is not advisable for amateurs.

OWLS IN GENERAL
A person can recognize any owl by its large, broad head with a ruff of feathers around the eyes. This ruff is called the facial disk. It also GOTCHA! - No, this is not a cruel capture of an innocent Northern saw-whet owl. It's a standard capture method using soft, double netting. The owl is carefully untangled and as shown below held securely by GCC Wildlife Technology student Lisa Masters, one of the volunteers for the owl banding project being conducted by the college's Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies Department, under the supervision of that department's director, Kevin Dodge, assistant professor of wildlife technologies and biology.

covers enormous ear openings. When pushing the facial disk forward, one can view the large ear opening - so large that the back of the fixed eye socket can be seen. The ears are slightly offset to aid with depth perception. The eyes are quite large and point forward, unlike the eyes of most birds. For this reason, owls can watch an object with both eyes at the same time. They have binocular vision like people. But unlike people, owls cannot move their eyes in their sockets, so they must move their heads to see a moving object. Their eyes have long lashes, and their upper eyelids close over them. Owls' eyes make them look as if they were wiser than other animals. Even ancient Greeks thought the owl was sacred to Athena, their goddess of wisdom. Actually, owls are all far more intelligent than

Owls have short, thick bodies, strong, hooked beaks, and powerful feet with sharp claws. The plumage of an owl is dull, or colored so that the bird blends with its surroundings. As birds of prey, owls can fly fairly fast. Their fluffy feathers muffle

IMPORTANT MARKINGS - The feather length and markings provide important information for owl banders. This data tells the sex and approximate age of an owl. Garrett Community College's Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies students are currently participating in a Northern saw-whet owl banding project in conjunction with the Maryland Ornithological Society and the Non-Game and Urban Wildlife Program of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources. The director of the program in this region is Kevin Dodge, GCC's director of Natural Resources and Wildlife Technologies and assistant professor of wildlife technologies and biology.

LEARNING IS FUN - Some interested younger students have also visited the bird banding site to learn more about owls in their area. These youngsters are viewing the wing span of the Northern saw-whet owl.

mals. The larger owls catch rabbits and squirrels. Smaller ones, like the Northern saw-whet, catch mostly mice, rats, and shrews. Some eat insects and small birds, and a few will occasionally dine on fresh roadkill. Owls tear their prey into pieces when they eat it. If the prey is small enough, they'll swallow it whole. Later, they regurgitate pellets of bone, fur, scales, and feathers which they cannot digest. The pellets can be found under their roosting places.

Most farmers find owls to be the most useful bird to

Thank You
Matthew Whitacre and family would like to thank everyone for their prayers, thoughtfulness, and concern during his recent surgery and recovery. Each card, visit and phone call was really appreciated. Special thanks to Pine Grove Church and CBYF, Rocky Dreaan Church and "friends" at Rocky Dreaan, Shadydale Chapel, Team One, Lewis Builders Softball Team, F.O.P. and Deep Creek Ready Mix. Matthew is not yet walking, but we know that God will take care of that in His time. Continue to lift us up in your prayers.

Thanks again.

Saw-Whet Owls

them because they destroy harmful rodents, but seldom touch poultry. Owls are not good nest builders. The nests are usually crude structures in hollow trees, caverns, burrows, barns, deserted houses, belfries, and old nests of hawks and crows. Their eggs are nearly round and are white, tinged with buff or blue. There are usually three or four eggs per nesting.

Both males and females help care for the nest. Owls stay in the nest longer than most birds do.

OWL BANDING

Glenn Therres, program director of the owl banding project for the Non-Game and Urban Wildlife Program, oversees the banding projects in the state. Dave Brinker, an old friend of Dodge's, directs the Northern saw-whet owl banding project on Annapolis Island, on the Eastern Shore. Migrations of mountain owls and coast owls are being compared as well in this study.

Brinker is what is called a master bander. Dodge is a sub-permittee under Brinker.

UNLIKELY OWL FANS? - Not at all. Dr. Steve Herman, president of Garrett Community College, shown above, made friends with this female Northern saw-whet owl which was briefly captured, banded, assessed and weighed, and then set free. This particular owl seemed to like Herman so well, she flew back into the data-collecting shed after she was set free. Below, reporter Pam Ashby, who normally has a healthy fear for her own cat when he's in a bad mood, had her confidence shored up by Kevin Dodge and actually held the owl. Cute, isn't she. No, I mean the owl.

The aluminum bands are serially numbered and registered with the bird-banding laboratory of the Office of Migratory Bird Management, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Wildlife Research Center, Patuxent.

When the students bring a bird into the shed, they first weigh it (most adult Northern saw-whets weigh 80-100 grams). The number is recorded immediately. The wing chord (bend in the wing) is then measured from the tip to the longest flight feather. Shorter wings indicate males and longer wings indicate females. The wing is then flattened out and re-measured.

Flight feathers are then assessed. If the primary and secondary feathers are pretty much the same color, that denotes a young owl (no moulting yet). If the feather colors vary, that means the owl has indeed lost some feathers that have grown back and that would signal an adult or AHY (after hatching year). The feathers are then measured in various ways and spots are counted. Eye color is checked - more yellow or more gold?

Another interesting piece of data is collected, that being how much fat is on the owl. That is checked by blowing the downy feathers away from a depression on the body under the wing. If the area is pink, there is not much fat; if there is yellow showing, that indicates fat content.

The owl is then banded with an aluminum band and placed on its back. As with many animals, this seems to almost put the animal to sleep or in a trance. At this point, the beak is measured from the cere to the tip and from the nostril to the tip. The color (black or non-pigmented) of the tip of the beak is also noted. The length of the breastbone is also recorded. The breastbone is concave for the attachment of feathers.

Dodge said all the data collected may or may not mean anything, but down the road could mean something quite important in the study of owls. "There's really so much we don't know about many forms of wildlife," he said.

Once the process described above is successfully completed, the owls are released, unharmed and seemingly untroubled by the experience. Some even try to come back into the shed.

Dodge stated that over 100 Northern saw-whet owls have been banded this year, compared to 44 last year. Among those totals, several other species of owls (barred and Eastern-screech) have been captured. They are also banded and data is collected on them as well. There were reportedly 16 owls banded last Friday night, which was a record night.

GCC students participating in the owl banding project include Travis Wharton, Lisa Masters, Tammy Sanders, Laura Bowman, Dene Wood, Becky Alexander, Brandon Seifert, Mark Beals, Evan Paugh, Andy Eiswert, Steve Broadwater, Shane Buckel, and Lloyd Goodwin. Tammy Bittinger, former student and now staff member of GCC is also participating. Kevin Boyle and J.B. Churchill are the students participating from FSU. Taking care of the phone lines is Mike Castle who drives all the way from Little Orleans every day.

"Whatever information we learn from this project could be important some day," Dodge concluded, "but what is really important is the education it is providing for the students. This is hands on biology and wildlife technology."

From a reporter's point of view, this was truly a learning experience. The student I observed, Lisa Masters, took her task seriously. She handled the owls with proficiency and with respect. She had learned well from Dodge the importance of properly collecting data. The night I went to the owl banding site, Dr. Steve Herman, president of GCC, was also along to see what the project was all about. He calmly held an owl for what seemed a long time. And when it came time for me to hold the owl, Dodge gave me the confidence I needed and for a woman who's scared to pick up her own cat most of the time. It was a miracle that I not only held the owl, but I did so without my gloves. We're never too old to learn.

Pet Club To Help Lions Flood Drive

The Patriotic Pet Club is holding a toy drive to help the Friendsville Lions Club with its continued drive to help midwest flood victims.

The club members are asking that parents and students send good, used or new toys to school to be placed in a box at Northern Middle School.

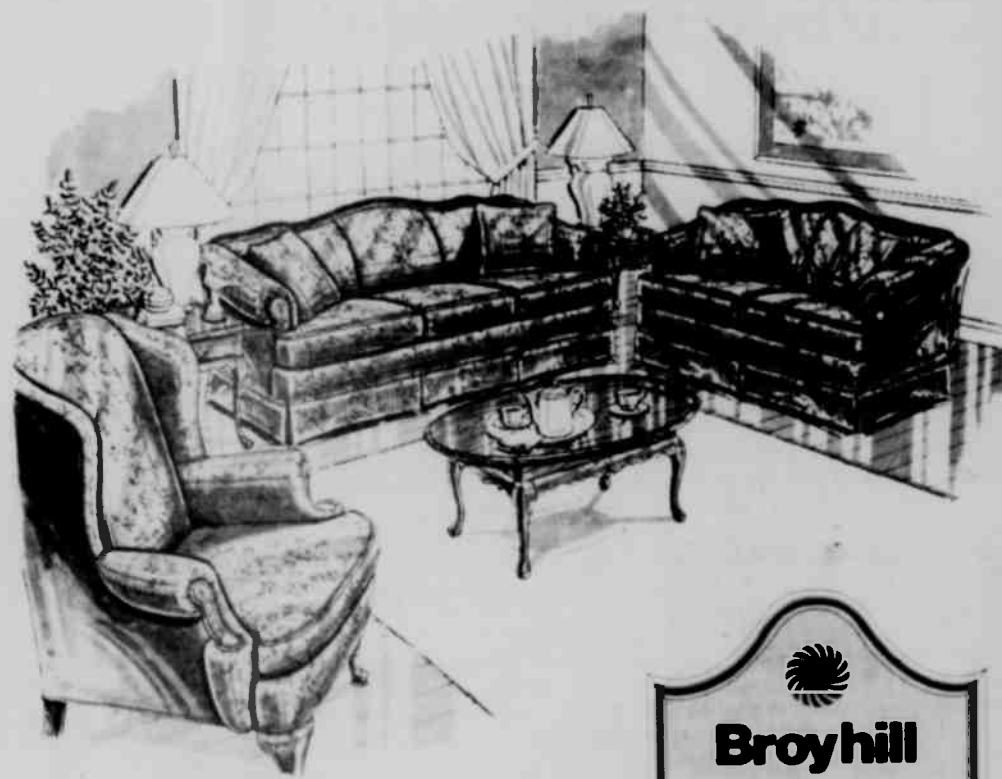

Students from Northern High School, Northern Middle School and Accident Elementary School are participating, thus far. Other drop-off points will be Accident IGA and the Accident Branch of the Ruth Enlow Library. The deadline is November 24.

AURORA/EGLON NEWS

BEEF AT AUCTION
The Aurora School Reconstruction Organization is now accepting bids for four quarters of beef which has been cut, wrapped and frozen. The highest bidder will have his/her choice of one or all, the lowest bid accepted will be $1.69 per pound. This beef (180 3/4 lbs.) was donated by the Terra Alta Bank who purchased it from Darl Roy Jr. at the Preston County Buckwheat Festival. Proceeds of the sale of this beef will benefit the Aurora School Reconstruction Fund. Bids may be sent to A.S.R.O., RR 1, Box 214A, Aurora, WV 26705 before December 1. Persons who have questions may call 735-3431.

COMMUNITY THANKSGIVING SERVICES
On Wednesday evening, November 24, the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren will be host to the Union District Thanksgiving Eve services beginning at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited.

BUCKWHEAT SAUSAGE DINNER
On Saturday, Nov. 20, a buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be served at the Mt. Grove community building from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

NOW ACCEPTING BIDS

for four quarters of beef (cut, wrapped, frozen). High bidder choice. Lowest bid accepted $1.69 per lb. Proceeds benefit the Aurora School Reconstruction Fund. Buckwheat Festival beef (180 3/4 lbs.) donated by Terra Alta Bank. Send to A.S.R.O., RR 1, Box 214A, Aurora, WV 26705 before Dec. 1. Questions? Call 304-735-3431.

"WHEN IS A BETTER DEAL, A BETTER DEAL?"

At this time of year, we tend to receive a lot of calls from our clients and friends asking that someone has been contacting them with "a better deal" for their life insurance and annuity needs and premium dollars. When is a better deal, a better deal? At my agency, we believe the client comes first. Life insurance is one of the single most important investments you will ever make. Don't be confused by a lot of sales talk and impressionable sales techniques.

My office reviews a lot of life insurance programs each week on a variety of people underwritten through a variety of companies. We answer a lot of questions that help the individual make the best decisions on their investment. I do not believe in replacing policies just for the sake of taking the business from another company. There are many good life insurance companies out in the market place.

If you are confused about your life insurance or annuity product or if you are feeling pressured by a salesperson to purchase their product, give us a call or stop by the office for some plain talk about your needs. The visit is always free and I feel you will walk away more informed about your impending purchase.

Putting our clients' needs first may be the big reason more and more people in Garrett County are choosing State Farm for their life insurance and annuity needs.

Talk to us today about your life insurance and annuity needs. It costs you nothing and could save you thousands. It isn't what you know about selling that counts—it's what you do.

AURORA STUDENTS PRESENT "LIVING" BOOK REPORTS - The students in Reneka Frazee's class of Aurora, W.Va., recently presented "living" book reports by portraying the main characters of their favorite stories. Mrs. Frazee filmed the students as they gave oral reports about the books to the other class members as well as invited guests, including parents and grandparents. Because of the loss of the Aurora School building last year, the students are taught in various trailers and other temporary buildings. Mrs. Frazee noted that their building was "packed" for the event, but that the children and guests enjoyed the day. Pictured above in the front row, left to right, are Jason Dumire (Paul Bunyan), Sharon Shaffer (Pocahontas), Stacey Gordon (Dalmatian), and Mark Simmons (Paul Bunyan). In the second row, same order, are John Birchland (Freckles), Sarah McWilliams (Huck Finn), Amanda Dillworth (The Witch from the Wizard of Oz), Denise Hartman (Dorothy from Oz), Heather Roth (Sleeping Beauty), Neil Mersing (Peter Pan), Alicia Shaffer (Sleeping Beauty), and Joey Silger (Little Fireman). In the third row, same order, are Matthew Patton (Joe Hardy), David Collins (Paul Bunyan), Greg Shaffer (David from David and Goliath), Cathy Tichnell (Pippen Longstocking), Chris Mullenax (Davy Crockett), Tracey Wiles (Old Lady), Kevin Calcamp (Willie Wonka), and Justin Rumer (Jackie Robinson). In the fourth row, same order, are Frank Anderson (Ben Franklin), Kristi Skiles (Peter Pan), Christie Sharpless (Jasmine from Aladdin), Shelly Fajardo (Genie from Aladdin), and Rachel Gatto (Tinkerbell), and Mrs. Frazee.

The club is also purchasing 4-H mugs to give as thank-you gifts.

Another project planned for December is that of a tree to be placed at each of the Aurora School locations for students and teachers to supply with caps and gloves to be sent to children in Siberia.

The group sang "Roll the Chariot Along" and "The Birdie Song" and played a Thanksgiving word game. Members present were Melissa and Jessica Callahan, Meghan, Kendra and Eric Durst, Kimberly and Kaylen Fike, Carla and Tina Fint, Courtney, Joey and Rebecca Fint, Darrell Fint, Lora Forman, Bethany Lantz, Neil Mersing, Conner Morgan, Hannah Myers, Joseph Paugh, Jason Roth, Cathy Sisler and Adrian Stemple. Leaders and adults present were Stacy Fint, Debbie Fike, Betty Fint, Opal Myers, Lori Durst, and Sharon Mersing.

The next meeting will be December 20, 6 p.m. at the home of Betty Fint. By Kimberly Fike, reporter.

AURORA PTO AND SCHOOL NEWS

On November 9 the Aurora PTO met at the Aurora School with the report that Fairfax Sand had given a $500 donation to the school and a "thank-you" was received from the teachers for the copier and duplicator which the PTO had provided. A committee to plan for field trips or mini-courses included Cynthia Bachtel, Betty Bolyard, Linda Lewis, Mary Rembold, and Tracy Bachtel. Mrs. Elsie Stemple was present to tell of her plans for mini-courses to be held during the year. One was held at Albright in October, there will be another in the spring, and they will be planned for Aurora during the winter months. Parent-Teacher conference was set for Albright on November 18. John Lofink reported both progress and problems of the new school construction. A book fair will be held in early December and a yearbook contract has been signed, similar to that of last year. The next meeting is planned for December 14 at 7 p.m. at the school.

On Friday, members of the Aurora-Terra Alta Post 578 VFW visited the Albright site to give the students there a history of Armistice Day, the reason for the Buddy Poppy and to answer questions they might have. They also distributed poppies, candy, and American pledge cards to the students.

Friday evening the championship game of the Preston County Jr. High Girls teams ended with 37-36 victory for Aurora when Melody Crawford sunk a last-second basket for the victory.

Also on Friday evening, Nov. 12, "The Price is Right" was played by several Aurora parents and children at the school, with Barbara Haddix, Tupperware agent, in charge of the evening. School children will be out with Tupperware catalogs and order sheets providing people in the community an opportunity to purchase needs or gifts and at the same time to benefit the school.

There were three winners from Aurora School at the Buckwheat Festival Art Show. Instructor Valerie Carlson announced that Courtney Fint placed first and Shannon Stieringer second, both in marker drawing and in their age category. Also placing was Brandi Myers, who received third in painting in the under 12 category.

ACHIEVEMENT NIGHT
Family Achievement Night was attended by Eglin Mountaineer 4-H Club members, parents, and siblings with a 7 p.m. beginning on Nov. 14 at the Maple Spring Church. Guests were Tracy Mullenax, who received his award from Arlene Lantz. Linda Lewis presented the Head II award to Kevin Corbin, the Heart II to Shawn Rembold, the Hand II to Jeremiah Feather and the Health II to Adam Bachtel.

Selling the most meat tickets for the lamb, pork and beef from the 4-H Foundation was Mark Utterback. Tim Harsli placed second.

New members Dana Feather, Lindsey Teets and Joey Sliger were also recognized.

Twenty-two door prizes were awarded. Leaders displayed the emphasis for each month with pictures and informational literature.

Recognized with personalized sweatshirts were Kevin Corbin and Becky Snyder who, as National Report Form winners, will be attending National 4-H Congress in Chicago in early December. The club leader, Linda Lewis, presented the shirts.

The meeting concluded with refreshments which had been brought by each family.

DELAUDER WOOL WINNER

Teresa DeLauder of Amboy was declared the senior winner in the Make-It-Yourself-With-Wool competition, held Nov. 12 at Camp Dawson. As West Virginia winner, she receives an expense-paid trip to Las Vegas, Nev., for January national competition. Mrs. DeLauder modeled a three-piece wool suit, jacket, skirt and pants.

PERSONAL MENTION

Clifton Arnold of Aurora was a recent patient in Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown.

Junior Knotts, Aurora, is a patient in Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he underwent knee surgery last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myers of Houston, Tex., visited last week in Aurora.

with his parents, Homer and Marguerite Myers.

A surgical patient Monday at Monongalia General Hospital was Mary Jane Hanline, Aurora.

Ralph and Rose Knotts of Dade City, Fla., were weekend guests of Herb and Jean Starr, Stemple Ridge. They accompanied the body of their aunt, Opal Holden, from Florida here for burial.

Lois Strawser and Hazel Durst, both Amboy, were weekend visitors in Columbus, Ohio, with their sister, Helen Winters, and her husband, Harold. Mrs. Winters underwent surgery last Monday in a Columbus hospital, but had returned home.

Hancell and Mildred Teets, Aurora, visited recently in Weirton with Doyle and Gladys Wiles. While there, they visited Oglebay Park and the Christmas light show there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Teets, Eglin, were weekend guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Brad and Robin Teets, in Stroudsburg, Pa., and visited enroute home at Litzitz, Pa., with Ray C. Judy, a former Eglin resident.

A surprise birthday party was held Sunday at the Maple Spring Church by family and friends for Christine (Mrs. Bradley) Shaffer.

UNION SENIORS

On Thursday, Nov. 11, Union District Senior Citizens met for lunch at the Aurora United Methodist Memorial Building, with 20 present. Sheridan Layman had the devotion and Wilda Stemple a reading. Betty Martin announced that fuel assistance need forms will be brought to the next meeting. Those signing up must provide proof of income and expenses. Jeannie Estep, R.N., gave nutrition information both orally and in form of hand-out literature and also checked blood pressures.

WVU Team Researching New Method Of Decreasing Acid Mine Drainage

A research team, headed by Dr. Henry W. Rauch, geology professor at West Virginia University, (WVU) is developing a coating that could replace rock dust (ground limestone) in room and pillar coal mines to decrease acid mine drainage. If proven effective in the field, researchers feel this coating, containing limestone dust and a sticky polymer, could be the measure companies need to safely mine acidic coal seams. The coating decreases acidic drainage by stopping the oxidation of pyritic materials in the rock surface and by neutralizing an acidity present. Rauch estimates that the process would cost about $1 per ton of coal. The National Mine Lands Reclamation Center (NMLRC) at WVU is funding the project.

No proven method of preventing acid mine drainage currently exists, so treating it through continuous application of expensive neutralizing chemicals such as lime is the most common procedure. According to Paul Ziemkiewicz, director of the NMLRC, the local industry spends roughly $1 million a day treating acid mine drainage in West Virginia alone. No one sees perpetual chemical treatment as an acceptable solution to the acid mine drainage problem. Several million dollars worth of coal seams in West Virginia are left unmined because coal operators will not take the financial risk, according to Rauch, who also said that the state will not grant mining permits unless coal companies show they can prevent acid mine drainage instead of just treating it. If this testing is successful, the researchers will substitute the coating in an active section for rock dust, which is normally applied to the surface of the ribs, floor, and roof to stop coal dust from circulating and causing explosions. The acid-preventing coating must be applied directly to the rock surface, or it will not stick. Rock dust can then be applied over the coating if necessary.

The researchers will make a formal application to the U.S. Mine Safety and Health Administration for permission to test the new procedure in an active mine. The NMLRC at WVU took over funding for the project in 1991, and university graduate students became involved. The combined research effort led to two versions of the coating. Both formulations were successful in the laboratory and will be tested in the field.

Christmas House Tour Slated For Dec. 4 In Keyser

The Keyser Woman's Club Christmas House Tour will be held again this year after a three-year absence from Keyser's Christmas activities. Scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 4, from 1-8 p.m., the tour will include four homes, a church and a college dormitory.

Homes on the tour will be those of Sam and Betty Hayes, Charles and Anne Palmer, and Lewis and Barbara Engle. The fourth home is Heritage House, the educational building beside the Presbyterian Church, just one block past the Engle house on South Mineral Street. Heritage House originally was the home of Molly Buxton Woolf and her son, Bill Woolf.

Also on the tour will be the Living Faith Fellowship Church, corner of Main and Piedmont streets in downtown Keyser, and Reynolds Hall, a girls' dormitory on the campus of Potomac State College.

Tickets may be purchased from any Woman's Club member, the Farmers and Merchants Bank, The American Trust Bank, Finishing Touch, Mulberry Place and The Country Nitch in Keyser and the Gift Buggy in McCoole. Purchased before Nov. 30, tickets will cost $3. After this date and at the front door of any house the day of the tour, the cost will be $3.50.

GCC Lakers Open Season By Winning Preview Classic; Sexton Sets Record

The Garrett Community College Lakers opened their 1993-94 campaign with success this past weekend by winning their own annual Preview Classic.

Under Coach Dennis Gibson, the Lakers cruised to a 100-68 win over CCAC South Friday evening, while Potomac State College disposed of Dundalk in the other opener. Garrett then edged the Potomac State Catamounts in the title game on Saturday, 94-92, a contest in which GCC's Troy Sexton set a new school record in three-point shots with eight.

Sexton, who was named to the All-Tournament team, and teammate George Hilton, led the Lakers in scoring against CCAC-South, as each finished with 22 points. Garrett County native Jason Brenneman and pre-season All-American candidate Wesley Tubbs each added 16 points.

After a 7-7 tie four minutes into the game, the Lakers began to pull away and then take control for good. With about 12 minutes remaining in the first half, Garrett was on top 19-11 and then recorded 13 unanswered points in just two minutes to go up 32-11. Sexton and Brenneman accounted for five points each in the scoring spurt.

The Lakers led by as many as 40 points, 71-31, midway through the second half.

LAKERS WIN PREVIEW TOURNEY - The Garrett Community College Lakers opened their 1993-94 campaign on a high note this past weekend by capturing first place in their own Preview Tournament. Coached by Dennis Gibson, the Lakers crushed CCAC-South in their first game, 100-68, and then edged Potomac State College in a thriller, 94-92. Garrett's Troy Sexton set a new GCC record in three-point shots in the Potomac State game by hitting eight of them. Pictured left to right above, front row, are Jason Brenneman, Pat Lee, Jermaine Jones, and Brett Coleman. In the back row, same order, are Sexton, Wes Tubbs, who was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player, George Hilton, Oliver Jones, and Kenny Gross. The next action for the Lakers will be hosting the Rob Michael State Farm Insurance Alumni Tournament, featuring Howard, New Kensington, and Northern Virginia teams. Howard will play New Kensington in the 6 p.m. game Friday on the McHenry court, and the Lakers will take on Northern Virginia in the 8 p.m. contest. The championship and consolation games will be played Saturday evening. Pictured below, left to right, are Coach Gibson, Rob Michael, and Dave Martin, assistant coach.

figures for Garrett was Kenny Gross, who scored 10 points. Leading CCAC-South and all scorers was Dave London with 25, while Dave Badamo netted 12 and Mike Fratto finished with 11.

Behind the hot long-range shooting of Sexton, who hit four of five from three-point distance in the first half against Potomac State on Saturday night, the Lakers moved out to a 48-35 half-time lead before letting the Catamounts come back in the second half.

PSC took the lead and held a six-point advantage, 86-80, with about six minutes left in the game before Tubbs knotted the score at 92-92 when he hit a shot from underneath with just 23 seconds remaining. Tubbs was fouled on the play, but missed the free throw and the Catamounts got the rebound, giving them an opportunity for a final shot.

Potomac missed the shot and GCC's Brett Coleman grabbed the rebound to set up the Lakers' winning shot. After a time-out, the Lakers worked the ball to Tubbs, who took a shot in the final seconds and missed, but Sexton hit the winning bucket on a follow-up.

Sexton led Garrett once again in scoring with a 28-point effort, and his eight three-point shots broke the GCC record of seven held by Shane Scott.

Tubbs, who was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Player, finished with 16 points, Jermaine Jones netted 15, and Brenneman contributed 10, as did Gross and Hilton before fouling out of the game in the second half.

Tubbs also pulled down 10 rebounds.

Leading five Catamounts in double-figure scoring was David Thompson with 19 points. Craig Kearney finished with 18, Jermare Crump netted 17, and Toren Pettigrew added 13.

"This was a total team effort," stated Coach Gibson. "They out-rebounded us and out-shot us from the foul line, but we really played with a lot of heart."

Others named to the All-Tournament team were Sylvester Banks of Dundalk, Dave London of CCAC-South, and Troy Boykin and

In loving memory of my husband,
John L. Fitzwater, Jr.,
who died November 18, 1985.
Tomorrow
Slowly now, and softly,
and sweetly,
Dancing stars pirouette in the sky;
Fleecy clouds flirt with the moon,
And I brush a tear from my eye.

Then alone once more,
Lost in a pensive mood;
My heart and mind adrift again,
Caught in the whelming flood,

As time swallows each yesterday and swiftly rushes on
To a brighter, happier tomorrow,
That somehow fails to come.

Soccer Assoc. To Hold Membership Meeting Nov. 22

The quarterly membership meeting of Mountaintop Soccer Association will be held Monday, Nov. 22, at Pizzeria Uno beginning at 7 p.m.

After a short business meeting, a panel discussion on "Micro-soccer" will be led by Paul Stone, certified soccer coach. The discussion will include ways to teach children the basic skills, keep them involved at all times, and have fun in the process. All area persons interested in learning more about MSA or youth soccer in general are welcome to attend.

"A special invitation goes out to all the parents and coaches from the northern division who organized 150 players from Accident, Grantsville, and Friendsville schools. MSA is delighted that soccer is growing so rapidly all over the county and offers support," stated MSA President Carole Ann Lovett.

Prior to the general meeting, the officers will meet at 5 p.m. in the downstairs dining room at Pizzeria Uno.

NHS Volleyball Team Defeated In Region Finals

The Northern High School girls' volleyball team will have to wait another year to compete for a second state championship, as the Huskies' opportunity for a state tourney berth was taken away last Thursday evening by Clear Spring.

The Huskies and Blazers went into the Class 1A West Regional title game both undefeated in 14 matches, but the Blazers disposed of the Huskies in three straight games, 15-7, 15-7, and 15-3. Clear Spring was seeded first in the region, while Northern was second.

It was the second year in a row that the Blazers stopped the Huskies in the regional playoffs.

The Huskies trailed in the first game before knotting the score at 4-4 and again at 7-7. But the Blazers, behind the serving of Krista Hoffman, scored the next eight points to win the game.

GOING FOR A KILL against the Clear Spring Blazers in Northern Husky Kandi Buckel during last Thursday's 1A regional championship contest. For the second straight year, the Blazers destroyed the Huskies' chances for a second state championship in volleyball, as Northern went down to a 3-0 defeat. Both teams came into the title game with perfect regular season records and one playoff win each. The future appears bright for the Huskies, however, as Coach Vonda Yunker will lose only one player, captain Lisa Stephens, to graduation next spring.

Northern never seriously challenged the Blazers in the second and third games.

Hoffman led Clear Spring with 12 points, while Mary Beth Weaver finished with 11. Ellida Schofield scored eight for the Huskies.

Northern's net offense was led by Amy Platter with eight spikes, including three kills. Heather Aleshire recorded nine spikes, with six kills, for the Blazers.

The Blazers finished as state runners-up last year, as they fell to Williamsport in the 1A championship match.

"The loss was really a disappointment for us," stated Coach Vonda Yunker. "I thought in the first game we proved that we could play with them. When we got the ball up to our hitters, they were just as devastating as Clear Spring's. Our biggest let-down was our back row play. We gave the ball back to them too many times without any offensive set-up. Good teams will kill you when you do this, and the final scores reflect this."

In the final analysis, she said, "we had a great season and, although we will truly miss Lisa Stephens next year, everyone else will be back. Although I like to play the season one game at a time, we've already decided we want to meet Clear Spring again next year in the regionals. The third time, hopefully, will be a charm."

completed the scoring for the Rams as he placed 52nd.

McBee, Howard, and Andrews received medals and were named to the All-State Team, while Clickener, Craver, and Newcomb each received ribbons. Also present as team alternates were Charlie Wesley, Jaime Jacoby, and Steve Shockey.

The Southern boys' team was undefeated in regular meet competition and placed second only to Allegany in the Bi-County Meet. Their scores in the state meet also topped Allegany's scores, as the Campers won the state 2A title. The Rams won the Garrett County title for the second straight year and are also the Potomac Valley Conference and Western Regional champions.

Teamwork was the key, as the Rams surged off the line and ran the first half of the 3.1-mile event as a group. At the two-mile mark it was clear that Southern had the team lead and in the final half mile they passed a number of other runners to win the title.

Northern High School's Rich Bowser, who was the only member of the Husky team to qualify for the state meet, placed 10th overall with a time of 17:10 and was also named to the All-State Team.

Capturing first place in the boys' race was Bobby Simmons of Joppatowne with a time of 16:23, while Brian Schnebly of Clear Spring was second in 16:27.

Meanwhile, the Southern High School girls' team placed fifth in the state meet with 108 points. Brunswick won the girls' title with 65 points, followed by Boonsboro with 74, Hereford with 78, and Francis Scott Key with 104.

Jenny Ruams, a junior, led the Southern girls with a seventh place finish in 20:43, while freshman Lauren Newcomb placed 10th in 20:54. They were awarded medals and named to the All-State Team.

Also scoring for the Rams were Andrea Devens, 29th; Shannon Dabney, 38th; Kara Freyman, 37th; Jennifer Pariseau, 53rd; and Katrina Thayer, 70th. Devens, Dabney, and Freyman were awarded ribbons.

Team alternates were Julie Caruso and Meghan Dabney.

Brunswick's Adrian

Unger easily won the girls' event with a time of 19:26, followed by Sharon Hugg, of Francis Scott Key, in 19:57.

Northern's Danelle Fike, one of two Huskies to qualify for the girls' race, finished 11th with a time of 20:56 and was named to the All-State team. Cindy Weimer was the other Northern runner.

The Southern boys are coached by Carl Booth, while Louis Newcomb coaches the girls. Both teams will return most of their top runners next season.

Both Northern teams are coached by Charlie Himmler.

ground and breaking them. As Jacobs got back into the vehicle, Sowers was hit with the truck door, causing him to fall partially under the truck.

Jacobs then put the truck in reverse and accelerated backward, hitting Green's patrol car and coming to a stop against a tree. The officers then handcuffed him as he struggled and fought, according to the report. He was transported to the sheriff's office initially, and then returned to the Finan Center.

Damage to the patrol car has been estimated at

EARN ALL-STATE CC HONORS - Two members of the Northern High School cross country team were named to the Maryland 1A High School All-State Team Saturday by virtue of their strong finishes in the state meet at Hareford High School. Rich Bowser, left, placed 10th overall among the boys, while Danielle Fike, right, captured 11th place in the girls' race. Pictured center is their coach, Charlie Himmier. The Southern High School boys' team won the state 1A title, and the Southern girls captured fifth place. See story for details.

$5,000, plus $250 for Sowers' glasses and pants, and $45 for Green's wristwatch, which was broken in the scuffle.

Charges against Jacobs are pending, according to a sheriff's office spokesperson.

again present its recommendation.

At the meeting with commissioners last week, Mikal Moomau, board member, said that the education board "continually seeks to find the best learning environment for the county's students, but we are always reminded to be very cognizant of funding constraints."

Albert Coviello, assistant superintendent, said that the construction of two schools instead of one may lead to the "paring down" of the two facilities because of costs.

"If you cut these two schools down, it would only be for short-sighted gains," he said.

Groves maintained that he would rather see the "community schools" concept pursued. Commissioner Brenda Butscher said she felt she did not have enough time to make the decision, and Commissioner John Braskey did not make his stance clear at the meeting.

"Reconstitution"

local office was given only a few days to respond to the proposed - now approved - plan.

Coviello's letter stressed that the team members were "extremely concerned" with the reconstitution process. He noted that the local board had understood that the process would not be initiated prior to the release of the 1995-96 testing data, but that the latest information indicates the process will begin in January 1994, with "failing" schools to be identified and targeted for possible take-over.

"We don't believe that it is appropriate to make decisions regarding school reconstitution until after the 1995-96 data is released," the letter states. Coviello also noted the team's concern with the lack of specificity used in terms such as "substantial and sustained improvement," which are words used to describe a school likely to avoid reconstitution.

MSTA officials maintain that if the current standards are enforced by the state board, only eight of the more than 1200 Maryland schools passed the 1992 round of tests. This would mean that all the remaining schools are at risk of state seizure. Reportedly, the state board will identify the failing schools and will give each school system 10 weeks to prepare "school improvement" plans.

Reps Protest

thing is seriously amiss in the model if it is attempting to provide special regard to children living in poverty. Garrett County ranks fourth in the state in terms of the percentage of children receiving free or reduced meals.

We also rank fifth highest in the state in terms of the percentage of students receiving special education services. In addition, our wealth per student ranks us 19th of the 24 school districts in the state. Yet, as you can see, the commission recommendations over the next five years project our increase to almost 400% less than a school district almost identical in size to us, with fewer children receiving free reduced meals, and yet having a greater wealth per pupil. Although not as pronounced, comparisons of us with other rural school districts listed in the table will yield a similar but perhaps less glaring conclusion."

Murphy noted that, even if the amount allocated for a separate targeted poverty grant were to be factored in, the county would still be facing disparity in the commission's recommendations.

Murphy continued, "We believe that you have broken significant ground in very difficult terrain. Our concern is perhaps only an anomaly. If it is, we ask that you attempt to bring our situation back into line with your principles. Conversely, if there appears to be more here than just an abnormality we would ask that you take further time -- very possibly at the expense of recommending anything for next year's General Assembly -- in order to craft something that will consistently implement the principles which you, and we, support."

According to statistics released by the commission, Garrett County, with a student population of 5,038, would receive an increase in funding amounting to $254,000 annually over the next five years -- a 1% increase. In comparison, Somerset County, with a total student population of 3,429, would receive an annual increase of $1,300,000 -- a 10% increase.

which may or may not be accepted by the state.

"There is only one reason we would intervene in the operation of a school," said Dr. Nancy Grasmick, state superintendent. "That is to make changes in the school necessary for that school to become a good learning environment for all students. That is our responsibility."

The state will apparently bring in outside professionals in the reconstitution process, partly at the cost of local fiscal authorities. Coviello's team asked several questions about the third-party educators:

"Where is the research and statistics to demonstrate the effectiveness of these third-party providers? What are the criteria under which these providers be chosen? What professional standards must employees of these providers meet? Will these providers be given breaks - such as a loosening from certain requirements or dispensations from program (stipulations) - that would give them better footing than the public schools have?"

Other school boards in the state asked similar questions, and much opposition was voiced by MST and other organizations, but the state board approved the measure Tuesday afternoon.
